BULLETTIN
Cairo, Egypt, May 1.—(P)—Removal of British forces from Greece is nearing its end, the RAF Middle East command indicated today in a communique which reported numerous flights by fighter planes to protect "the final convoys."

Berlin, May 1.—(P)—The German news agency, DNB, said the Athens radio today broadcast an order by War Minister, Bako for demobilization of the entire Greek army. (Apparently Bako is a member of the new German dominated government for occupied Greece.)

Melbourne, Australia, May 1.—The Australian government said today it had received advice from the British government clearly that the Germans had suffered "colossal losses in men and machines" in Greece and at British casualties had been relatively small.

A statement issued jointly by the British Prime Minister A. W. Fadden and Minister of Interior H. S. Goll said:

"Information that has reached the government so far suggests that General Thomas Blamey was correct in his assumption that operations in Greece have been conducted with a lower loss than might have been expected for the military results obtained."

(Blamey, commander of Australian forces in the Middle East, recently became deputy commander-in-chief of all British forces in that area.)

"Advices received show clearly that the Germans suffered colossal losses in men and machines."

London, May 1.—(P)—At least 10 per cent of the British Expeditionary Force in Greece—or about 8,000 men—have been taken safely to the island of Crete, the army announced today, amid speculation as to whether Adolf Hitler's next move would be aimed at the Near East or at this island itself.

Southern Mine Operators and Officers of CIO United Mine Workers Agree On Temporary Wage Schedules, Including Basic Increase

G. M. FACES STRIKE

By the Associated Press
Back to the mines was the order of the day in the soft coal industry, following a month's idleness occasioned by a wage dispute.

Southern mine operators and officers of the CIO United Mine Workers agreed yesterday on temporary wage schedules, including a basic increase of $1 a day, which permitted immediate resumption of coal digging.

Northern operators had perfected their arrangements with the union earlier, and half the northern mines already were at work.

Spokesmen for the southern producers predicted that two-thirds of their mines would be in production again today. Negotiations looking toward a more permanent operating agreement are to be resumed in New York May 12.

The southern mine owners have held out against eliminating a wage differential which gives northern miners 40 cents a day more than southern coal workers.

In this connection, Secretary of Commerce Jones, in a press conference yesterday, advocated readjustment of coal freight rates in the south. Southern operators contend that under existing freight rates, they would be at a competitive disadvantage with northern mines if the wage differential were eliminated.

FOREST FIRES IN FIVE STATES

By the Associated Press
Forest fires that struck at five eastern states for the second time within a fortnight were either quelled or virtually under control today.

New Jersey again suffered the brunt of woodland blazes as more than two dozen fires laid waste to 3,600 acres yesterday. Although the fires were reported in check today, conditions were termed "extremely critical."

Mutual Broadcasting System and American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers Consider Proposal to Halt Controversy

TWO PLANS OFFERED

New York, May 1.—(P)—The Mutual Broadcasting System announced today it had reached an agreement with American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers on a proposal that may return 1,250,000, A. S. C. A. P.-controlled songs to its airways shortly after an absence of four months.

Declaring the end of the radio-music war appeared imminent, Mutual said terms of the agreement had been mailed to its 175 member and affiliated stations for approval, with the stations being offered their choice of two plans to be effective for any period up to Jan. 1, 1950.

These were for either a "blanket" or a "per program" license. Mutual's announcement said the network's board of directors favored the blanket formula because it would entail less bookkeeping, but explained that the A. S. C. A. BUSINESS DECLINE IS BLAMED UPON STRIKE

Pittsburgh, May 1.—(P)—The 29-day soft coal stoppage which ended Tuesday caused a "precipitous" decline in business in this city last month, the University of Pittsburgh reported today.

During the week ended April 19, the business index fell to 114.6 per cent of the 1923-25 average—a drop of almost 27 points since March.

Steel production was sharply curtailed, traffic on the Monongahela river came to a virtual standstill and "severe" decreases were also noted in freight loadings and electric power production.

CHILD DIES IN FIRE

Collingswood, N. J., May 1.—(P)—A two-year-old girl died and her two sisters, an uncle and a maid were badly burned as fire swept a home in the western section of this borough today. The dead child was Marjorie Lou Williamson, daughter of Arthur Williamson, known as the "fingerless pianist," who, with his wife, was in New York for a recital.

ENEMY ATTACKS BRITISH TROOPS IN NORTH AFRICA

Berlin, May 1.—(P)—The German air force unleashed an intensified offensive in North Africa today, bombing British troop columns and artillery positions in advance of German ground forces, authorized sources said, after the High Command had reported "local successes" in the Tobruk area.

Italian troops were said to have cooperated with the Germans in the operations about Tobruk.

The Luftwaffe also followed up the flight of British and Greek troops to Crete with a bombardment of ships in Suda harbor, the British base on that Greek island, and seriously damaged three vessels, the daily communique said.

The mop-up of scattered detachments of British, Greek and Serb units in the southern Peloponnese continued, the daily communique said.

A dive bombing of Tobruk resulted in the sinking of a 5,000-ton merchant ship and extensive destruction by fires in the fortifications. The High Command said.

In the war around England, the High Command reported the sinking by planes of a 1,000-ton freighter off the east coast of Scotland, the damaging of two other freighters and a destroyer, and the sinking by submarine of a 7,000-ton steamer.

Claims "Ample" Authority for the Move and Though it Has Never Been Done, Says Constitution Permits It

ZERO HOUR IS NEAR

Harrisburg, May 1.—(P)—Senator James A. Geltz (R-Allegheny) threatened to deviate from age-old custom in the Pennsylvania legislature and introduce the administration appropriation bills in the senate because of the delay in the Democratic House which has held these measures since February.

At its brief session, the House received committee reports, advanced a number of bills on its calendar and adjourned until Monday night at 8 p. m. (EST).

Geltz, majority Senate floor leader, asserted he had "ample" authority for his move, and though it never has been done, he said the constitution would permit it.

The state's basic law prohibits introduction of tax bills in the senate.

The House has held the James budget program since it was introduced, Democrats explaining they were "investigating" the terms of the proposed $542,000,000 outlay for the next two years.

Geltz said introduction of the general appropriation bills in the Senate ordinarily is "not a good method of legislative procedure; but it is the only alternative left to us to keep the State Department functioning in operation."

He pointed out that the month of May rounds out the biennium and if the tax bills are not passed by May 31, the government's "doors might close."

FLYING COLONEL IS SCORED IN COMMONS

London, May 1.—(P)—R. A. Butler, undersecretary of foreign affairs, answered "yes" in the House of Commons today to a member who asked him whether Charles A. Lindbergh had not "consistently" always used his influence to prevent effective action against Germany.

His questioner was Conservative Member S. V. T. Adams.

The brief discussion involving Lindbergh brought a statement from Butler that the American flyer's views on the strength of the Soviet Union about the time of the Munich pact in September, 1938, were considered "no undue significance" by the British government.

The house cheered this declaration.

BURGESS FIRST BUYER

Impressive exercises held this morning at the Third avenue entrance to the post office marked the inauguration of the local sale of national defense savings bonds and stamps, which were offered for sale throughout the nation for the first time today.

School pupils, members of local service organizations and the general public made up the crowd of several hundred persons who attended the program during which the first defense bond was purchased by Burgess R. W. Steber and the first defense stamps by representatives of several of the schools here.

K. Wendelboe, commander of the Schwaner Post, No. 135, American Legion, acted as chairman of the program, which opened with the advancing of the color guard while the high school band played the national anthem.

Participating in this portion of the ceremony were John Meade, William Rudolph, Elmer Munksgard and Sig Anderson, of the American Legion; Ernest Stewart and Ellsworth Lytle, of Dinwiddie; Schwaner Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Earl R. Small, representing the Army and Navy Legion of Valor; Larry Tingwall, representing the navy, and Sgt. Elliott, of the U. S. Marine recruiting service, who came here from Erie this morning for the exercises.

MOSCOW OBSERVES MAY DAY

GIGANTIC PARADE IS FEATURE OF PROGRAM

By the Associated Press
Moscow, May 1.—A warning by Defense Commissar S. K. Timoshenko that Soviet Russia is ready "to offer an annihilated rebuff to any encroachment by imperialists" ushered in a great display of the Red Army's might today as the Communist party celebrated May Day in traditional fashion.

Timoshenko's warning was issued in a special order of the day acclaiming Russia's achievements during the past year and emphasizing steps taken to reorganize her armed forces "in the light of experience and modern warfare" at the behest of Joseph Stalin.

He declared that it is the Soviet government's intention to adhere to a peaceful policy, but asserted soberly that "the present international situation is pregnant with all kinds of surprises."

Timoshenko, who was named defense commissar a year ago and charged with the task of overhauling the army, called upon Soviet workers to labor ceaselessly to help "consolidate the defensive capacity of the country."

Moscow's great Red Square, as usual was the center of the nationwide May Day demonstration. Government and party leaders assembled there at the base of Lenin's tomb in front of the red-walled Kremlin to review a gigantic parade of troops and workers.

Stalin himself, flanked by members of the Politburo, watched the spectacle from a special stand atop the red marble mausoleum.

Massed columns of troops, mobile guns, tanks and other military equipment flowed through the square in a seemingly endless procession as formations of warplanes roared overhead.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE ASKS ALL TO BUY NEW SECURITIES

Washington, May 1.—(P)—Urged by President Roosevelt to participate in the nation's "all-out effort to perpetuate democracy," Americans young and old stepped up to post office and bank windows today to begin investing in defense savings bonds and stamps.

Public sale of the new securities started throughout the country today. The president led the way last night, launching the bond sale program in a nationally broadcast address. He announced he was buying a bond (of $500 denomination) the White House said later for Mrs. Roosevelt, and 10 defense savings stamps (25-cent denomination) for each of his grandchildren.

In a frank and clear appeal for financial support to pay for our arming, and to pay for the American existence of later generations," the president expressed hope that the sale of bonds and stamps would "reach down to the individual and the family in every community, and on every farm, in every state and every possession of the United States."

Warren Well Represented at Fourth National Competition-Festival for the Fourth Region

Director Summers Leaves For Atlantic City With Large String Ensemble, Brass Trio, Cornet, Violin and Tuba Soloists

NAMES OF STUDENTS

Warren High School's instrumental music department will have five entries in the fourth national competition festival for Region 4, comprising the New England and Middle Atlantic States and being held in Atlantic City, N. J., on Friday and Saturday.

This honor was conferred upon the local musicians as the result of superior and excellent ratings attained in the state competitions held in New Castle on April 18-19, for which students qualified in the western district semi-finals in Clarion on March 28.

In the ensemble personnel were Patty Smith, James Shortt, Mary Freund, Mae Lawson, Joyce Peterson, Dorothy Ann Harris, Betty Mae Rudolph, Joyce Eames, Norman Huck and Robert Folkman, Louise Eaton, member of the ensemble, could not go because of a scholarship examination scheduled for tomorrow.

JOHNSON HITS BACK AT CHIEF

Washington, May 1.—(P)—In the opinion of Hugh S. Johnson, President Roosevelt's action in denying a renewal of his commission as a brigadier general in the reserve corps was "neither very wise nor very consistent with what, at least used to be a very close and precious friendship."

The 58-year-old newspaper columnist yesterday made public a letter he wrote the president to that effect. Johnson declared the White House had given "misleading, so-called reasons" for the non-renewal.

Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) took a hand in the controversy by telling the House that if Harry Hopkins is "qualified to be the No. 1 defense production man" then Johnson "surely has some qualifications to warrant him continuing in his capacity as a reserve general."

Johnson's commission expired April 10. He applied for reappointment. The War Department (Turn to Page Fifteen)

Maritime Commission Makes Plans to Place Fifty American Tankers in Service of British Within Next Few Days In Compliance With Request of President Roosevelt for "All-Out Aid to the Democracies"

REGISTRY TRANSFER NOT BEING PROPOSED

Washington, May 1.—(P)—In quick response to President Roosevelt's request for ships for this country's "all-out aid to the democracies," the Maritime Commission made plans today to place 50 American tankers in the service of the British within the next few days.

All operators of American tankers of over 5,000 gross tons are being called on for aid in the program.

The tentative plan does not call for a transfer of registry of tankers to the British, but for their use outside the war zone for the direct benefit of the British.

Under the proposal the tankers would be operated from oil-producing countries along the north coast of South America to United States North Atlantic ports.

At the North Atlantic ports the oil would be transferred to British tankers for the remainder of the trip.

Shipping experts said the transfer of a cargo from one tanker to another is not a difficult operation, such as would be involved in the transfer of general cargo from one vessel to another.

President Roosevelt was reported ready to order the prompt requisitioning of refugee vessels in United States ports as one of the first steps toward the objective.

Requisitioning of 69 Axis and Danish vessels aggregating 300,000 tons would provide—as a start—approximately 15 per cent of the 2,000,000 tons the president called for "at the earliest possible moment" to transport the raw materials required by American defense industries and the war supplies needed by nations resisting aggression.

"Vital war materials are piling up at the ports or delayed at the factories," Mr. Roosevelt declared. "We must supply those ships and at once."

The president emphasized the urgent need for increased shipping facilities last night in instructions to Admiral Emory S. (Turn to Page Fifteen)

First Lady Takes a Fling at Lindbergh

Eugene, Ore., May 1.—(P)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told reporters last night that "if I had received a medal from Hitler, as Col. Charles A. Lindbergh did, I would have returned it long ago. Of course, what Lindbergh does with his medal is his affair."

She said no one is trying to deny the flier freedom of speech, but when "someone says that the democracies cannot possibly win this war, anyone has a perfect right to compare that person with certain factions in American history."

United States Chamber of Commerce Calls On Nation For Moratorium Against Strikes

Washington, May 1.—(P)—The United States Chamber of Commerce called on the nation's "patriotic" labor and industrial leaders today to declare a moratorium against all strikes which would interrupt defense production.

Approving a resolution proposed by its resolutions committee, the chamber declared it to be "intolerable" that anyone should threaten to interrupt defense production "for purposes of coercion" and added that "such acts are of offenses against the public safety, and offenders should be subjected to the penalties of the laws they violate."

This and other policy statements were adopted without discussion as the chamber acted on the proposals of its committee.

Another resolution, on "federal finance," called for a $2,000,000,000 reduction in non-defense expenditures and for tax increases in unspecified amounts which should be "limited in duration to the period of the emergency with the burden fairly distributed."

★AMERICANANA★ Swimmin' Hole

By RAY PEACOCK
AP Feature Service Writer

A MAN has a right to grow maudlin over the forever lost ecstasies of his old swimming hole. When I daydream about it, I want a friendly pat of understanding, not cold measured words which tell me that my watery paradise was a stagnant little pond, unhygienic, full of snags and stepoffs and germs.

I know all that, but I choose to remember the afternoons spent basking in the sun, the buried cigarbox which was a storehouse for things treasured and forbidden, the aimless conversations, the awakening consciousness of the adult world.

I choose to remember the joys of swimming, uninhibited, the friendly, cooling water, a magic substance which robbed my body of its weight. I choose to remember the enduring friendships which were born of the attempt to mislead the common foe—parents who could not understand that our very existence depended upon this escape.

I know better now, of course. I know that our lives were in peril every minute while we were far from rescuers. I know that our parents were right all the time, and I want no son of mine to follow my footsteps.

Sure, I know better. But the other day on an outing I saw a kid with his hair slicked down and his face suspiciously clear. I knew that he and his gang were doing the same thing all over again, and I envied him and his youth and his old swimming hole.

"Assembled here in the peace and quiet of the dawn of a bright May morning, it seems almost impossible to imagine that the democratic way of life which has made ours a great nation stands today on the very brink of destruction and ruin.

"So accustomed are we to our free way of life, to freedom of speech, thought and action, to freedom of enterprise and religious worship, we take these blessings as our God-given and inherent right. We are prone to forget the blood and toil of the forefathers who won them for our enjoyment; we forget those fundamental principles that have been the key of our national progress and the very bulwark of our liberties.

And it is with tremendous shock that we realize that these liberties so dearly won for us, may have need to be just as dearly defended.

"Emerging from the most widespread and prolonged economic depression the world has ever known, there breaks upon it the most heartless and devastating war of all time. The discoveries of science, the fruits of years of invention, the hopes of the future, the rights and purposes of the people, the very life of the nation are in the hands of madmen, the means of destruction and subjugation of their fellow men. Nation after nation, free and peace-loving people like ourselves, have fallen before the intrigue and the armed might of this band of wicked men.

"Against this view of madmen
we have three great bulwarks:
"First, a courageous and undomestable people in England, whose heart and spirit will ever be embodied upon the pages of history.

"Second, the tremendous resources of these United States.

"Third, and best of all, a land of liberty-loving and fearless people, courageous and self-sacrificing as their illustrious forefathers when the need arises.

"It has been our great good fortune that we have been given some time to prepare and that we have the means with which to prepare.
We have no wish for military might, but thank God we have the means and the spirit to meet a fight if it is forced upon us.

"Day after day we have seen our Warren county boys going away to the military camps. Our hearts go out to them as they give up home and jobs and loved ones to enlist in the service of their country in her hour of need. Just so, for those of us who cannot enlist for military service, this is the hour in which our government calls upon us for a service that we can perform. And so we enlist to supply the funds which will in turn make possible the effective functioning of the boys we are sending away.
It is little enough for us to do—but it is our bit. It is one thing we can do and should do and must do.

"It is a great honor to me that

BULLETIN

Berlin, May 1.—(P)—The German news agency, DNB, said today the Athens radio today broadcast an order by War Minister Bakos for demobilization of the entire Greek army. (Apparently Bakos is a member of the new German dominated government for occupied Greece.)

Melbourne, Australia, May 1.—(P)—The Australian government said today it had received advice showing clearly that the Germans had suffered "colossal losses in men and machines" in Greece and that British casualties had been relatively small.

A statement issued jointly by Acting Prime Minister A. W. Fadden and Minister of Interior H. S. Foll said:

"Information that has reached the government so far suggests that General Thomas Blamey was correct in his assumption that operations in Greece have been conducted with a lower loss than might have been expected for the military results obtained.

(Blamey, commander of Australian forces in the Middle East, recently became deputy commander-in-chief of all British forces in that area.)

Advices received show clearly the Germans suffered colossal losses in men and machines."

London, May 1.—(P)—At least 80 per cent of the British Expeditionary Force in Greece—or about 48,000 men—has been taken safely conquered kingdom, the army announced today, amid speculation as to whether Adolf Hitler's next blow would be aimed at the Near East or at this island itself.

PRODUCTION OF BITUMINOUS IS RESUMED TODAY

G. M. FACES STRIKE

By the Associated Press
Back to the mines was the order of the day in the soft coal industry, following a month's idleness occasioned by a wage dispute.

Southern mine operators and officers of the CIO United Mine Workers agreed yesterday on temporary wage schedules, including a basic increase of $1 a day, which permitted immediate resumption of coal digging.

Northern operators had perfected their arrangements with the union earlier, and half the northern mines already were at work.

Spokesmen for the southern producers predicted that two-thirds of their mines would be in production again today. Negotiations looking toward a more permanent operating agreement are to be resumed in New York May 12.

The southern mine owners have held out against eliminating a wage differential which gives northern miners 40 cents a day more than southern coal workers.

In this connection, Secretary of Commerce Jones, in a press conference yesterday, advocated readjustment of coal freight rates in the south. Southern operators contend that under existing freight rates, they would be at a competitive disadvantage with northern mines if the wage differential were eliminated.

FOREST FIRES IN FIVE STATES

By the Associated Press
Forest fires that struck at five eastern states for the second time within a fortnight were either quelled or virtually under control today.

Before dawn a light rain in Massachusetts and New Hampshire enabled fire fighters to gain the upper hand on every conflagration which had cut a wide swath through timberlands.

Although 28 blazes swept up-state New York forests and woodlands—which Governor Lehman proclaimed closed to the public except for "necessary business"—all were under control last night.

Maine likewise reported that all but one blaze were being held back, (Turn to Page Fifteen)

AGREEMENT TO END MUSIC WAR BELIEVED NEAR

TWO PLANS OFFERED

New York, May 1.—(P)—The Mutual Broadcasting System announced today it had reached an agreement with American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers on a proposal that may return 1,250,000 Ascap-controlled songs to its airways shortly after an absence of four months.

Declaring the end of the radio-music war appeared imminent, Mutual said terms of the agreement had been mailed to its 175 member and affiliated stations for approval, with the stations being offered their choice of two plans to be effective for any period up to Jan. 1, 1950.

These were for either a "blanket" or a "per program" license. Mutual's announcement said the network's board of directors favored the blanket formula because it would entail less bookkeeping, but explained that as Mutual is a cooperative, non-profit organization each station that as Mutual is a cooperative, non-profit organization each station would (Turn to Page Fifteen)

BUSINESS DECLINE IS BLAMED UPON STRIKE

Pittsburgh, May 1.—(P)—The 29-day soft coal stoppage which ended Tuesday caused a "precipitous" decline in business in this area last month, the University of Pittsburgh reported today.

During the week ended April 19, the business index fell to 114.6 per cent of the 1923-25 average—a drop of almost 27 points since March.

Steel production was sharply curtailed, traffic on the Monongahela river came to a virtual standstill and "severe" decreases were also noted in freight loadings and electric power production.

CHILD DIES IN FIRE

Collingswood, N. J., May 1.—(P)—A two-year-old girl died and her two sisters, an uncle and a maid were badly burned as fire swept a home in the western section of this borough today. The dead child was Marjorie Lou Williamson, daughter of Arthur Williamson, known as the "fingerless pianist," who, with his wife, was in New York for a recital.

ENEMY ATTACKS BRITISH TROOPS IN NORTH AFRICA

Berlin, May 1.—(P)—The German air force unleashed an intensified offensive in North Africa today, bombing British troop columns and artillery positions in advance of German ground forces, authorized sources said, after the High Command had reported "local successes" in the Tobruk area.

Italian troops were said to have cooperated with the Germans in the operations about Tobruk.

The Luftwaffe also followed up the flight of British and Greek troops to Crete with a bombardment of ships in Suda harbor, the British base on that Greek island, and seriously damaged three vessels, the daily communique said.

The ships were identified as a tanker and two large merchant-ships.

The mop-up of scattered detachments of British, Greek and Serb units in the southern Peloponnese continued, the daily communique said.

A dive bombing of Tobruk resulted in the sinking of a 5,000-ton merchant ship and extensive destruction by fires in the fortifications, the High Command said. In the war around England, the High Command reported the sinking by planes of a 1,000-ton freighter off the east coast of Scotland, the damaging of two other freighters and a destroyer, and the sinking by submarine of a 7,000-ton steamer.

Claims "Ample" Authority for the Move and Though it Has Never Been Done, Says Constitution Permits It

ZERO HOUR IS NEAR

Harrisburg, May 1.—(P)—Senator James A. Getz (R-Allegheny) threatened to deviate from age-old custom in the Pennsylvania legislature and introduce the administration appropriation bills in the senate because of the delay in the Democratic House which has held these measures since February.

At its brief session, the House received committee reports, advanced a number of bills on its calendar and adjourned until Monday night at 8 p. m. (EST).

Getz, majority Senate floor leader, asserted he had "ample" authority for his move, and though it never has been done, he said the constitution would permit it.

The state's basis law prohibits introduction of tax bills in the senate.

The House has held the James budget program since it was introduced, Democrats explaining they were "investigating" the terms of the proposed $542,000,000 outlay for the next two years.

Getz said introduction of the general appropriation bills in the Senate ordinarily is "not a good method of legislative procedure, but it is the only alternative left to us to keep the State Department at functions in operation."

FLYING COLONEL IS SCORED IN COMMONS

London, May 1.—(P)—R. A. Butler, undersecretary of foreign affairs, answered "yes" in the House of Commons today to a member who asked him whether Charles A. Lindbergh had not "consistently, always used his influence to prevent effective action against Germany."

His questioner was Conservative Member S. V. T. Adams.

The brief discussion involving Lindbergh brought a statement from Butler that the American flyer's views on the strength of the Soviet Union about the time of the Munich pact in September, 1938, were considered of "no undue significance" by the British government.

The house cheered this declaration.

BURGESS FIRST BUYER

Impressive exercises held this morning at the Third avenue marked the post office office marked the inauguration of the local sale of national defense savings bonds and stamps, which were offered for sale throughout the nation for the first time today.

School pupils, members of local service organizations and the general public made up the crowd of several hundred persons who attended the program during which the first defense bond was purchased by Burgess R. W. Steber and the first defense stamps by representatives of several of the schools here.

N. K. Wendelboe, commander of Chief Complanter Post, No. 135, American Legion, acted as chairman of the program, which opened with the advancing of the color guard while the high school band played the national anthem.

Participating in this portion of the ceremony were John Meade, William Rudolph, Elmer Munksgard and Sig Anderson, of the American Legion; Ernest Stewart and Ellsworth Lyle, of Dinsmoor; Schwing Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Earl R. Small, representing the Army and Navy Legion of Valor; Larry Tingwall, representing the navy, and Sgt. Elliott, of the U. S. Marine recruiting service, who came here from Erie this morning for the exercises.

MOSCOW OBSERVES MAY DAY

GIGANTIC PARADE IS FEATURE OF PROGRAM

By the Associated Press
Moscow, May 1.—A warning by Defense Commissioner S. K. Timoshenko that Soviet Russia is ready "to offer an annihilated rebuff to any encroachment by imperialists" ushered in a great display of the Red Army's might today as the Communist party celebrated May Day in traditional fashion.

Timoshenko's warning was issued in a special order of the day acknowledging Russia's achievements during the past year and emphasizing steps taken to reorganize her armed forces "in the light of experience and modern warfare" at the behest of Joseph Stalin.

Timoshenko, who was named defense commissar a year ago and during the task of overhauling the army, called upon Soviet workers to labor ceaselessly to help "consolidate the defensive capacity of the country."

Moscow's great Red Square, as usual was the center of the nationwide May Day demonstration. Government and party leaders assembled there at the base of Lenin's tomb in front of the red-walled Kremlin to review a gigantic parade of troops and workers.

Stalin himself, flanked by members of the Politburo, watched the spectacle from a special stand atop the red marble mausoleum.

Massed columns of troops, mobile guns, tanks and other military equipment flowed through the square in a seemingly endless procession as formations of warplanes roared overhead.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE ASKS ALL TO BUY NEW SECURITIES

Washington, May 1.—(P)—Urged by President Roosevelt to participate in the nation's "all-out effort to perpetuate democracy," Americans young and old stepped up to post office and bank windows today to begin investing in defense savings bonds and stamps.

Public sale of the new securities started throughout the country today. The president led the way last night, launching the bond sale program in a nationally broadcast address. He announced he was buying a bond (of $500 denomination the White House said later) for Mrs. Roosevelt, and 10 defense savings stamps (25-cent denomination) for each of his grandchildren.

"In a frank and clear appeal for financial support to pay for our arming, and to pay for the American existence of later generations," the president expressed hope that the sale of bonds and stamps would "reach down to the individual and the family in every community, and on every farm, in every state and every possession of the United States."

Statement Made by Pittsburgh Man In Kentucky He Planted Bomb That Killed Two Last November Is Being Checked

MOTIVE IS REVENGE

Scranton, May 1.—(P)—A statement has been made in Louisa, Ky., by a Pittsburgh man that he planted a bomb which killed the son and daughter of Dr. E. H. Rehn here last November 7, but Scranton authorities said today they still have not accepted the story.

In the Kentucky community, County Attorney M. J. See announced yesterday that a man who identified himself as Dwight O. Thorne, 32, walked into the sheriff's office and admitted the double slaying.

Informed of the statement, Prosecutor M. J. Egan and Detective Captain George Donaldson said here they would await receipt of a copy of the statements before going to Louisa.

They also said they had sent to Kentucky police a list of selected questions to ask the prisoner in the belief his answers may determine whether the statement is bonafide.

See said the man, claiming he wanted to make his statement because he "hadn't been able to sleep for three months," told of placing in an automobile dynamite which snuffed out the lives (Turn to Page Fifteen)

JOHNSON HITS BACK AT CHIEF

Washington, May 1.—(P)—In the opinion of Hugh S. Johnson, President Roosevelt's action in denying a renewal of his commission as a brigadier general in the reserve corps was "neither very wise nor very consistent with what at least used to be a very close and precious friendship."

The 58-year-old newspaper columnist yesterday made public a letter he wrote the president to that effect. Johnson declared the White House had given "misleading, so-called reasons" for the non-renewal.

Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) took a hand in the controversy by telling the House that if Harry Hopkins is "qualified to be the No. 1 defense production man" then Johnson "surely has some qualifications to warrant him continuing in his capacity as a reserve general."

Johnson's commission expired April 10. He applied for reappointment, the War Department (Turn to Page Fifteen)

Maritime Commission Makes Plans to Place Fifty American Tankers in Service of British Within Next Few Days In Compliance With Request of President Roosevelt for "All-Out Aid to the Democracies"

REGISTRY TRANSFER NOT BEING PROPOSED

Washington, May 1.—(P)—In quick response to President Roosevelt's request for ships for this country's "all-out aid to the democracies," the Maritime Commission made plans today to place 50 American tankers in the service of the British within the next few days.

All operators of American tankers of over 5,000 gross tons are being called on for aid in the program.

The tentative plan does not call for a transfer of registry of tankers to the British, but for their use outside the war zone for the direct benefit of the British.

Under the proposal the tankers would be operated from oil-producing countries along the north coast of South America to United States North Atlantic ports.

At the North Atlantic ports the oil would be transferred to British tankers for the remainder of the trip.

Shipping experts said the transfer of a cargo from one tanker to another is not a difficult operation, such as would be involved in the transfer of general cargo from one vessel to another.

President Roosevelt was reported ready to order the prompt requisitioning of refugee vessels in United States ports as one of the first steps toward the objective.

Requisitioning of 69 Axis and Danish vessels aggregating 300,000 tons would provide—as a starter—approximately 15 per cent of the 2,000,000 tons the president called for "at the earliest possible moment" to transport the raw materials required by American defense industries and the war supplies needed by nations resisting aggression.

"Vital war materials are piling up at the ports or delayed at the factories," Mr. Roosevelt declared. "We must supply those ships and at once."

The president emphasized the urgent need for increased shipping facilities last night in instructions to Admiral Emory S. (Turn to Page Fifteen)

First Lady Takes a Fling at Lindbergh

Eugene, Ore., May 1.—(P)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told reporters last night that "if I had received a medal from Hitler, as Col. Charles A. Lindbergh did, I would have returned it long ago. Of course, what Lindbergh does with his medal is his affair."

She said no one is trying to deny the fier freedom of speech, but when "someone says that the democracies can't possibly win this war, any one has a perfect right to compare that person with certain factions in American history."

KIEL NAVAL BASE TARGET OF AIR RAID BY R. A. F.

London, May 1.—(P)—Strong Royal Air Force bomber squadrons centered their attacks on the German naval base at Kiel last night, an Air Ministry communique said, and also hit at targets in the Berlin area, the industrial center of Hamburg and the port of Emden.

United States Chamber of Commerce Calls On Nation For Moratorium Against Strikes

Washington, May 1.—(P)—The United States Chamber of Commerce called on the nation's "patriotic labor and industrial leaders" today to declare a moratorium against all strikes which would interrupt defense production.

Approving a resolution proposed by its resolutions committee, the chamber declared it to be "intolerable" that anyone should threaten to interrupt defense production "for purposes of coercion" and added that "such acts are of-fenses against the public safety, and offenders should be subjected to the penalties of the laws they violate."

The resolution did not comment on the administration's $3,500,000,000 defense tax program, but, Ellsworth C. Alvord, chairman of the chamber's finance committee, in a speech this morning described the methods by which the treasury would raise the money as "severe and unrealistic."

★AMERICANA★ Swimmin' Hole

By RAY PEACOCK
AP Feature Service Writer

A MAN has a right to grow maudlin over the forever lost ecstasies of his old swimming hole. When I daydream about it, I want a friendly pat of understanding, not cold measured words which tell me that my watery paradise was a stagnant little pond, unhygienic, full of snags and stepoffs and germs.

I know all that, but I choose to remember the afternoons spent basking in the sun, the buried cigarbox which was a storehouse for things treasured and forbidden, the aimless conversations, the awakening consciousness of the adult world.

I choose to remember the joys of swimming uninhibited, the friendly cooling water, a magic substance which robbed my body of its weight. I choose to remember the enduring friendships which were born of the attempt to mislead the common foe—parents who could not understand that our very existence depended upon this escape.

I know better now, of course. I know that our lives were in peril every minute while we were far from rescuers. I know that our parents were right all the time, and I want no son of mine to follow my footsteps.

Sure, I know better. But the other day on an outing I saw a kid with his hair slicked down and his face suspiciously clean. I knew that he and his gang were doing the same thing all over again, and I envied him and his youth and his old swimming hole.

Rev. E. Pinkney Wroth, rector of Trinity Memorial church, after which Commander Wendelboe presented Burgess Steber, who delivered a short address prior to purchasing the first defense bond.

Postmaster James K. Bell then presented pupils from the various schools who purchased the first defense savings stamps. Those who purchased the stamps included Betty Edinger, treasurer of the Warren High School Student Council; Byron Mavrelis, of the Beatty School Citizens' League; Richard Thorpe, of South street school; Donald Kuhre, of Home street; Richard Thompson, of Lacy school; Elsie Walker, and Ann Livingston, of East street; Frederic Printz, of East street school, was the first school pupil to purchase a defense bond.

Postmaster Bell expressed his appreciation to all present for attendance and participation in the exercises, which were arranged by the Warren Citizens' Committee under the direction of Ben Kinnear.

The program closed with the retiring of the colors as the band played "America."

In his address, Burgess Steber said:

"Assembled here in the peace and quiet of the dawn of a bright May morning, it seems almost impossible to imagine that the democratic way of life which has made ours a great nation stands today on the very brink of destruction and ruin.

"So accustomed are we to our free way of life, to freedom of speech, thought and action, to freedom of enterprise and religious worship, we take these blessings as our God-given and inherent right. We are prone to forget the blood and toil of the forefathers who won them for our enjoyment; we forget those fundamental principles that have been the key of our nation's progress and the very bulwark of our liberties. And so it is with tremendous shock that we realize that these liberties, so dearly won for us, may have need to be just as dearly defended.

"Emerging from the most widespread and prolonged economic depression the world has ever known, there breaks upon it the most heartless and devastating war of all time. The discoveries of science, the fruits of years of invention are turned from their true and rightful purposes to become, in the hands of madmen, the means of destruction and subjugation of their fellow men. Nation after nation, free and peace-loving people like ourselves have fallen before the intrigue and the armed might of this band of wickedness.

"Against this view of madmen we have three great bulwarks: "First, a courageous and indomitable people in England, whose heart and spirit will ever be emboldened upon the pages of history.

"Second the tremendous resources of these United States.

"Third, and best of all, a land of liberty-loving and fearless people, courageous and self-sacrificing as their illustrious forefathers when the need arises.

"It has been our great good fortune that we have been given some time to prepare and that we have the means with which to prepare. We have no wish for military might, but thank God, we have the means and the spirit to meet a fight if it is forced upon us.

"Day after day we have seen our Warren county boys going away to the military camps. Our hearts go out to them as they give up home and jobs and loved ones to enlist in the service of their country in her hour of need. Just so, for those of us who cannot enlist for military service, this is the hour in which our government calls upon us for a service that we can perform. And so we enlist to supply the funds which will in turn make possible the effective functioning of the boys we are sending away. It is little enough for us to do, but it is our bit. It is one thing we can do, and should do and must do.

BRIDGE PAINTING

Bids will be asked on May 22 by the Department of Highways for the painting of 59 bridges. These structures have been placed in twelve groups. Each year the Department paints a number of bridges as part of its usual maintenance operations. The bridges on this year's schedule are in virtually all of the Department's 11 Engineering districts.

ELECTION CALLED

According to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington today, the labor board has called an election to determine whether employees of Holgate Brothers Company, at Kane, want to be represented by the United Retail and Wholesale Employees of America, Local 209, by the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local No. 1614 (AFL), or neither.

Someday I'll Find You

BY MARGARET WIDEMER

YESTERDAY: Perhaps, Eileen Gardner thinks, it was silly to pass up a quiet marriage with Jordan Easton out in Denver, and stake everything on getting a job in New York. But there is a vague chance that in New York she may meet again the handsome stranger she knows only as Martin, and she already had seen quite enough of Jordan. Now Eileen, courage in hand, is about to begin the round of job-hunting.

Chapter 14

"Nothing Just Now"

IT was by now about the middle of September. It was warm enough to wear summer things, but Eileen dressed in her smart little dark taffeta, fussed longer than usual over all adjustments of make-up, her gloves, and walked valiantly out.

The great building looked formidable. Men and girls, going and coming, talking and laughing easily, downstairs, somehow cheered her as she walked back to the elevator. Her letter from the West—her own recordings—had secured her a personal appointment with a man named Grayson. Somebody with a curt, pleasant voice, whose secretary also had a voice like that.

"People are the same everywhere," she told herself to make her heart stop pounding as she reached the floor where she was to be interviewed. But it didn't seem to do much good.

The pleasant, brisk girl at the reception desk made her wait, sitting in a row among others on curved red leather seats, there in the wide hall. Presently her name was spoken and, heart still pounding, she went to her interview with Mr. Grayson.

He was easy to talk to; he had a warm swift friendliness which she was to find as characteristic of all radio people; the immediate, informal manner of the stage, very nearly. But it was backed by less temperance. Mr. Grayson was a businessman.

Thin, dark, smiling, inspiring, he wandered about one of the audition rooms—a room of padded gray splendor and incredible space—and said, "Yes, we liked your recordings. Of course, we never expect anyone to come on to New York on the chance of anything here. Still, as you're here, we may as well get your record—Mary!"

Mary, as smiling, friendly and casual as her employer, drifted in from some adjoining spot and greeted Eileen.

"Make out a card for Miss Gardner," Mr. Grayson said, and Mary took a pencil from her blond curls, smiled sunnily, and took an exhaustive history of Eileen down on the spot.

"Sounds promising."

"Would there be anything?"

"Just now, no. But you never know."

"Would another audition?"

"Why, I think so. I have some time." As casual as that.

"Come along. Now, don't be afraid—oh, of course you're not!"

Mary laughed. "Mr. Grayson! He's so absent-minded. She's been singing on a radio hour! I just took it down."

"Of course, I'm a bit screwball, we mostly are," Mr. Grayson said brightly.

And with no more trouble than that, beyond the summoning of a sound man, a little running about, Eileen had an audition. She had, hoping for the best, brought her music.

"Well, nicely. No stage fright. Nice voice, nice personality," said Mr. Grayson cheerfully.

She went away, walking on air. It was not until she was back with Molly, excitedly relating her story, that she realized that she had not had a radio hour! I just took it down."

regular-featured, with sleek black hair and flashing eyes, had five children, and a pretty, plump, dark wife who was going to bring him a sixth child before many months. He and Aristides were devoted to each other; Nick, like Molly, had an air of protective-ness toward his wife. In fact, Nick was rather a protective person all around; assertive, cheerful, parental.

"I hear you was a good friend to Molly. Well, you bet we goin' to be good friends to you," he said, to which the shy, Aristides, teeth gleaming, added, "You bet!"

Eileen had nearly forgotten her first meeting with Molly. It had seemed such a small thing to do to awaken such response—merely offering to room with a girl another girl didn't want to room with.

His smile was charming. Molly turned crimson under it, and openly squeezed his hand.

"Well, if you can say that," she said crisply, "affair the way I've been hounding you about the shop, you're a good kid, Ris."

He shrugged. "It's for my good. You and Nick—well, I'm sort of your protégé," he said, unexpectedly. "I guess it's all right for me."

Eileen could see that Aristides had been managed for his good all his life—passive, sweet-natured, romantic. Nick had been in charge till now; and now Molly was taking over.

Little Mrs. Papoulos, whose Christian name was Myrtis, laughed. "Some folks boss and some get bossed," she said, jumping up to clear off the plates and replace them with a sticky Greek sweetmeat which Eileen looked at in some dismay. "You and me, Ris, we get bossed, hey?"

"Ris says you're swell," Molly confided to her later. "He says he likes you better than any friend I ever had. He thinks you have beautiful eyes and hands."

"That's nice of Ris. I liked him, too."

"Nothing ever gets by Ris," Molly said fervently. "I never noticed you had pretty hands. But he would. He's like that. Some times I think he might be a writer or something. He does write poetry a little."

Odd Job

EILEEN did not need to talk at all that night. When Molly had finished about Ris's personal perfection, she continued about his prospective flower shop and his plans for running it. He thought he could swing it alone—with Molly running in from Nick's shop next door to give a hand from time to time. Presently, of course, it would expand to the point of needing twice the space and twice the employees.

Just before she slept she thought to ask, "What happened with you?"

"Nothing so far," Eileen said. "But I can't expect everything to happen at once..."

"No," Molly said drowsily. "Anyway, your audition's a lot. You got to keep up going to see them and calling them."

Eileen, before she slept, did some thinking. She must keep enough in bank to fall back on. Two weeks did not prove much—the radio people were encouraging; there must be jobs for competent secretaries. She decided to try the Part Time Bureau.

It proved to be offered by a bright, kindly lady who answered telephone calls with the patience of a switchboard operator. And the part-time jobs proved to range from interior decorating to maid service.

"Secretarial work by the hour," the lady said. "Yes, we get calls for that. Of course, we get a fee." She took Eileen's telephone number, and the hours when she was to be found at home.

Eileen went out again, on the round of job hunting. It was getting closer to October. Being in New York by itself, was exciting, stimulating—and there was plenty of time. There'd be a radio job. There'd be—lacking that—a secretarial job.

She was suitable; she was pretty, alert, capable.

"What you have to have's contacts," the lady said wisely. "They are what count, nowadays."

Eileen got another audition, in a few days. And more encouragement. And nothing coming of it.

The Part Time Bureau called Eileen a couple of times. She picked up, as good reports, she supposed, came of her, five or six dollars a week at the rate, doing typing by the hour. And then things lagged. She went on her rounds, in to see the manager, by way of stirring her up.

"Not a thing for you, my dear," she was told. "And honestly, sometimes I get so discouraged—the saddest of creatures."

The telephone interrupted her. "No," she said. "I'm sorry. I haven't anybody at all of that kind right now."

"What kind?" Eileen demanded, hand on the manager's black crepe shoulder.

"Nothing you want," said the manager, hand on the mouthpiece. "That's Mrs. Carrier. She wants her cockers washed."

Eileen laughed. "Swell. I suppose it's the same price per hour as typing."

"A little more," said the manager, frowning. "So many less people want to wash dogs! You mean you'd take it. It would cover my half of this week's rent," Eileen said recklessly.

Paralysis Victim Eager for Truck Ride From Erie to Home and Family In Cory

By WILLIAM SMOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

Erie, May 1.—(P)—Hot weather can't come too quickly for comely Mrs. Glenn Wood, an "iron lung" patient for 18 months, because then she'll be able to go home to Cory, "iron lung" and all.

Doctors said that as soon as the weather is warm enough, she can make the 35-mile trip with a "minimum of danger."

When the time comes to rejoin her husband and three children, it'll take a truck to do the job. Wood says he'll hire a truck and have the cylindrical tank enclosing his wife hoisted aboard.

A portable engine will keep the lung "breathing" during the jaunt from an Erie hospital to Cory.

Mrs. Wood, 30, was stricken with infantile paralysis while working in her home in October, 1939. Since she can't breathe normally for more than a few minutes at a time, the iron lung does it for her by rhythmically increasing and decreasing the air pressure about her chest. As the pressure is increased, air leaves her lungs, and when the pressure is lessened, her lungs expand and take in air.

Mrs. Wood's nurse describes her as a cheerful patient who has a bright smile for every visitor.

"There's no use looking at the dark side of this misfortune," she tells callers. "Other people have licked this disease and I think I can, too. I'm down but I'm not out."

Denied the use of her hands, which are inside the tank, Mrs. Wood has learned to do her frequently. She is familiar with most best-sellers and has a radio in her air-conditioned room.

Once when an airplane roared overhead she commented: "When I hear an airplane I'm mighty glad it's not war-time and that I don't have to get up and run."

For a long time Mrs. Wood was confined in her iron "prison" night and day but in recent months has been able to leave the lung for a short period each day. Her moments of freedom are spent sitting in a chair by a window overlooking the hospital grounds.

She is resigned to her ordeal, pressure about her chest. As the pressure is increased, air leaves her lungs, and when the pressure

GLADE TOWNSHIP SCHOOL ALUMNI GROUP FORMED

A meeting was held at the Irvinedale school in Glade township last evening for the purpose of organizing an alumni association and those attending represented all sections of the township.

It was decided to name the group the Glade Township Alumni Association, with all graduates of Glade township schools eligible to membership upon payment of 25 cents a year dues.

Officers named were Mrs. Clyde Hansen, president; Raymond Smith, first vice president; Mrs. Marie Solinger, second vice president; Miss Eleanor Pees, secretary; Mrs. Mark Giltman, treasurer.

Named as a membership committee were Marian Carlson, Betty Schweitzer, Jeanette Valentine, Mrs. Gail Mead, Mrs. John Carlson, Garnet Nuhfer, Betty Seder and Jeanette Hatch.

The organization voted a life membership to Mrs. Archie Hunter, the organizer.

The new association will have its first banquet at the Y. W. C. A. activities building at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, May 13, with the 1940 and 1941 classes of the Irvinedale school as honored guests. Also to be honored are H. L. Blair, county superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Blair.

All graduates and all present and former teachers of the township may bring one guest each and the present school board members and their wives are privileged to attend.

Reservations for the banquet must be made no later than May 10 with Mrs. Mark Giltman, Warren R. D. 1, phone 5013-R13 or Mrs. Archie Hunter, 309 Lincoln avenue, phone 1255-J.

PUNCHEDBOARD GAMING DEVICE

Philadelphia, May 1.—(P)—A punchedboard is a gambling device in spite of the fact that printed instructions and rules for using one read like a brief in anticipation of the present case.

Judge Louis E. Levinthal ruled in quarter sessions court. He sustained police station confiscating a punchedboard which its owner wanted back.

Grange Anniversary Being Planned For Next Monday Night

Detailed arrangements are progressing rapidly for the 50th anniversary celebration of Warren Grange, No. 1025, to be held next Monday, May 5.

Approximately 200 persons are expected for this gathering, invitations having been extended to nearby granges, and the state master, Kenzie Bagshaw, having accepted the unit's invitation to be its anniversary guest and speaker.

The program of the day will get under way at 3:30 o'clock in the I. O. O. F. hall, with a session at which about 35 silver certificates will be awarded.

Two gold certificates will be given later to Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Kidder, of North Warren, who are in Florida for the winter months and do not plan to return until about the first of June.

All members and friends are extended an invitation to participate in the tureen supper to be served at six o'clock and all are asked to bring tureens and rolls.

4-H CLUBS TO HOLD MEETING HERE TOMORROW

Tomorrow evening, the officers of the home economics and agricultural 4-H clubs of Warren county will hold a training meeting at the local Y. M. C. A.

Most of the home economics clubs have been organized and several of the agricultural clubs. Each of these has a president, vice president, secretary, news reporter, song leader and game leader and business sessions are usually well conducted. It is felt, however, that a great deal of valuable assistance and inspiration may be given them at a training meeting of this kind.

Miss Isabel Myers and W. S. Jeffries, assistant state club leaders of Pennsylvania State College, are going to assist the county leaders, Mrs. Thelma Frendergast and O. C. Tritt, and local leaders in conducting the session.

EARLY AD COPY MEANS GOOD COMPOSITION AND A CHANCE FOR BEST POSITION

BY MARGARET WIDEMER

YESTERDAY: Perhaps, Eileen Gardner thinks, it was silly to pass up a quiet marriage with Jordan Estill out in Denver, and stake everything on getting a job in New York. But there is a chance to meet again the handsome stranger she knows only as Martin, and she already had seen quite enough of Jordan. Now Eileen, courage in hand, is about to begin the round of job-hunting.

Chapter 14

"Nothing Just Now"

It was by now about the middle of September. It was warm enough to wear summer things, but Eileen dressed in her smart little dark taffeta, fussed longer than usual over all adjustments of make-up, hat, gloves, and walked valiantly out.

The great building looked formidable. Men and girls, going and coming, talking and laughing easily, downstairs, somehow cheered her as she walked back to the elevator. Her letter from the Weigand secured her a personal appointment with somebody named Grayson. Somebody with a curt, pleasant voice, whose secretary also had a voice like that.

"People are the same everywhere," she told herself to make her heart stop pounding as she reached the floor where she was to be interviewed. But it didn't seem to do much good.

The pleasant, brisk girl at the reception desk made her wait, sitting in a row among others on curved red leather seats, there in the wide hall. Presently her name was spoken and, heart still pounding, she went to her interview with Mr. Grayson.

He was easy to talk to; he had a warm, friendly smile which she was to find as characteristic of radio people; the immediate, intimate manner of the stage, very nearly. But it was backed by less temperance. Mr. Grayson was a businessman.

Thin, dark, smiling, inspiring, he wandered about one of the audition rooms—a room of padded gray splendor and incredible space—and said, "Yes, we liked your recordings. Of course, you know, we never advise people to come on to New York on the chance of anything here. Still, as you're here, we may as well get your record—Mary!"

Mary, as smiling, friendly and casual as her employer, drifted in from one adjoining spot and greeted Eileen.

"Make out a card for Miss Gardner," Mr. Grayson said, and Mary took a pencil from her blond curls, smiled sunnily, and took an exhaustive history of Eileen down on the spot.

"Sounds promising."

"Would there be anything—"

"Just now, no. But you never know."

"Would another audition—"

"Why, I think so. I have some time." As casual as that.

"Come along. Now, don't be afraid—oh, of course you're not."

Mary laughed. "Mr. Grayson! He's so absent-minded! She's had her singing on a radio hour! I just took it down!"

"Of course, I'm a bit screwball, we mostly are," Mr. Grayson said brightly.

And with no more trouble than that, beyond the summoning of a sound man, a little running about, Eileen had an audition. She had, hoping for the best, brought her music.

"Went nicely. No stage fright. Nice voice, nice personality," said Mr. Grayson cheerfully.

She went away, walking on air. It was not until she was back with Molly, excitedly relating her story, that she realized that nothing had happened. Still, as she and Molly agreed, it was a lot to get an audition right off the bat that way. It was on account of the recordings the network had bought, of course.

She did not have such good luck with other networks, excepting that, on Molly's suggestion, she asked Mr. Grayson to telephone a conferee in a rival company, and he agreed to do, and got an interview. People were nice in New York. No hard brutal rejections. Everybody was as nice and pally as could be. But nothing much happened.

Greek Dinner

AFTER two weeks of this Eileen realized that she hadn't enough money to wait for things.

"If you haven't got a spot by the first of October you won't have much chance till round January," one friendly secretary told her, as she waited to see somebody. "You know—things run thirteen weeks."

She registered with a handful of secretarial bureaus, and took her letters and references up to the registrar's office at Columbia University herself.

They were pleasant there, too, but she found that too many students were carrying themselves by secretarial work to make things very hopeful for an out-lander.

"Had you thought of the Part-Time Bureau?" said one of the pleasant women instructors at Columbia. "It might be a stop-gap."

She took down the address in her little book. But she didn't think very much about it. Stop-gaps were not what she wanted.

Molly, meanwhile, had put through, like the whirlwind she was, the affair of Aristides' flower shop. Eileen was taken to dinner that night at Nick's. Nick and Aristides, to her strange eyes, were not unlike, except that Nick was shorter and stockier and more cheerful. Both men were dark, regular-featured, with sleek black hair and flashing teeth.

Nick, at twenty-eight, had five children, and a pretty, plump, dark wife who was going to bring him a sixth child before many months. He and Aristides were devoted to each other; Nick, like Molly, had an air of protective toward Ris. In fact, Nick was rather a protective person all around; assertive, cheerful, parental.

"I hear you was a good friend to Molly. Well, you bet we go in to be good friends to you," he said, to which the shy Aristides, teeth gleaming, added, "You bet!"

Eileen had nearly forgotten her first meeting with Molly. It had seemed such a small thing to do to awaken such response—merely offering to room with a girl and other girl didn't want to room with her.

His smile was charming. Molly turned crimson under it, and opened squinted her hand.

"Well, if you can say that," she said crisply, "after the way I've been hounding you about the shop, you're a good kid, Ris."

He shrugged. "It's for my good. You and Nick—well, I'm sort of your protégé," he said, unexpectedly. "I guess it's all right for me."

Eileen could see that Aristides had been managed for his good all his life—passive, sweet-natured, romantic. Nick had been in charge till now; and now Molly was taking over.

Little Mrs. Papoulos, whose Christian name was Myrtis, laughed. "Some folks boss and some get bossed," she said, jumping up to clear off the plates and replace them with a sticky Greek sweetmeat which Eileen looked at in some dismay. "You and me, Ris, we get bossed, hey?"

"Ris says you're swell," Molly confided to her later. "He says he likes you better than any friend I ever had. He thinks you have beautiful eyes and hands."

"That's nice of Ris. I liked him, too."

"Nothing ever gets by Ris," Molly said fervently. "I never noticed you had pretty hands. But he would. He's like that. Sometimes I think he oughta be a writer or something. He does write poetry a little."

Odd Job

EILEEN did not need to talk at all that night. When Molly had finished about Ris' personal preferences, she continued about his prospective flower shop and his plans for running it. He thought he could swing it alone—with Molly running in from Nick's shop next door to give a hand from time to time. Presently, of course, it would expand to the point of needing twice the space and twice the employees.

Just before she slept she thought to ask, "What happened with you?"

"Nothing so far," Eileen said. "But I can't expect everything to happen at once."

"No," Molly said drowsily. "Anyway, an audition's a lot. You got to keep up going to see them and calling them."

Eileen, before she slept, did some thinking. She must keep enough in bank to fall back on. Two weeks did not prove much—the radio people were encouraging; there must be jobs for so competent a secretary. She decided to try the Part Time Bureau.

It proved to be officered by a bright, kindly lady who answered telephone calls with the patience of a switchboard operator. And the part-time jobs proved to range from interior decorating to maid service.

"Secretarial work by the hour," the lady said. "Yes, we get calls for that. Of course, we get a fee."

She took Eileen's telephone number, and the hours when she was to be found at home.

Eileen went out again, on the round of job hunting. It was getting closer to October. Being in New York by itself, was exciting, stimulating—and there was plenty of time. There'd be a radio job. There'd be—lacking that—a secretarial job.

She was suitable; she was pretty, alert, capable.

"What you have to have's contacts," Molly said wisely. "They are what count, nowadays."

Eileen got another audition, in a few days. And more encouragement. And nothing coming of it. The Part Time Bureau called Eileen a couple of times. She picked up, as good reports, she supposed, came of her, five or six dollars a week that way, doing typing by the hour. And then things lagged. She went on her rounds, in to see the manager, by way of stirring her up.

"Not a thing for you, my dear," she was told. "And honestly, sometimes I get so discouraged—the saddest stories—"

The telephone interrupted her. "No," she said. "I'm sorry. I haven't anybody at all of that kind right now."

"What kind?" Eileen demanded, hand on the manager's black crepe shoulder.

"Nothing you want," said the manager, hand on the mouthpiece. "That's Mrs. Carrier. She wants her cockers washed."

Eileen laughed. "Swell. I suppose it's the same price per hour as typing?"

"Sure I'd take it. It would cover my half of this week's rent," Eileen said recklessly.

By WILLIAM SMOCK

Associated Press Staff Writer

Erie, May 1.—(P)—Hot weather can't come too quickly for comely Mrs. Glenn Wood, an "iron lung" patient for 18 months, because then she'll be able to go home to Cory, "iron lung" and all.

Doctors said that as soon as the weather is warm enough, she can make the 35-mile trip with a "minimum of danger."

When the time comes to rejoin her husband and three children, it'll take a truck to do the job. Wood says he'll hire a truck and have the cylindrical tank enclosing his wife hoisted aboard. A portable engine will keep the lung "breathing" during the jaunt from an Erie hospital to Cory.

Mrs. Wood, 30, was stricken with infantile paralysis while working in her home in October, 1939. Since she can't breathe normally for more than a few minutes at a time, the iron lung does it for her by rhythmically increasing and decreasing the air pressure about her chest. As the pressure is increased, air leaves her lungs, and when the pressure is lessened, her lungs expand and take in air.

Mrs. Wood's nurse describes her as a cheerful patient who has a bright smile for every visitor.

Denied the use of her hands, which are inside the tank, Mrs. Wood has nurses read to her frequently. She is familiar with most best-sellers and has a radio in her air-conditioned room.

Once when an airplane roared overhead she commented: "When I hear an airplane I'm mighty glad it's not war-time and that I don't have to get up and run."

For a long time Mrs. Wood was confined in her iron "prison" night and day but in recent months has been able to leave the lung for a short period each day. Her moments of freedom are spent sitting in a chair by a window overlooking the hospital grounds.

She is resigned to her ordeal for an indefinite time but eagerly anticipates the day she can "kiss this iron lung goodbye."

GLADE TOWNSHIP SCHOOL ALUMNI GROUP FORMED

A meeting was held at the Irvindale school in Glade township last evening for the purpose of organizing an alumni association and those attending represented all sections of the township.

It was decided to name the group the Glade Township Alumni Association, with all graduates of Glade township schools eligible to membership upon payment of 25 cents a year dues.

Officers named were Mrs. Clyde Hansen, president; Raymond Smith, first vice president; Mrs. Merle Solinger, second vice president; Miss Eleanor Fees, secretary; Mrs. Mark Giltman, treasurer.

Named as a membership committee were Marian Carlson, Betty Schweitzer, Jeanette Valentine, Mrs. Gail Mead, Mrs. John Carlson, Garnet Nuhfer, Betty Seder and Jeanette Hatch.

The organization voted a life membership to Mrs. Archie Hunter, the organizer.

The new association will have its first banquet at the Y. W. C. A. activities building at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, May 13, with the 1940 and 1941 classes of the Irvindale school as honored guests. Also to be honored are H. L. Blair, county superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Blair.

All graduates and all present and former teachers of the township may bring one guest each and the present school board members and their wives are privileged to attend.

Reservations for the banquet must be made no later than May 10 with Mrs. Mark Giltman, Warren R. D. 1, phone 5013-R13 or Mrs. Archie Hunter, 309 Lincoln avenue, phone 1255-J.

Tomorrow evening, the officers of the home economics and agricultural 4-H clubs of Warren county will hold a training meeting at the local Y. M. C. A.

Most of the home economics clubs have been organized and several of the agricultural clubs. Each of these has a president, vice president, secretary, news reporter, song leader and game leader and business sessions are usually well conducted. It is felt, however, that a great deal of valuable assistance and inspiration may be given them at a training meeting of this kind.

Miss Isabel Myers and W. S. Jeffries, assistant state club leaders of Pennsylvania State College, are going to assist the county leaders, Mrs. Thelma Prendergast and O. C. Tritt, and local leaders in conducting the session.

Grange Anniversary Being Planned For Next Monday Night

Detailed arrangements are progressing rapidly for the 50th anniversary celebration of Warren Grange, No. 1025, to be held next Monday, May 5.

Approximately 200 persons are expected for this gathering, invitations having been extended to nearby granges, and the state master, Kenzie Bagshaw, having accepted the unit's invitation to be its anniversary guest and speaker.

The program of the day will get under way at 3:30 o'clock in the I. O. O. F. hall, with a session at which about 35 silver certificates will be awarded.

Two gold certificates will be given later to Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Kidder, of North Warren, who are in Florida for the winter months and do not plan to return until about the first of June.

All members and friends are extended an invitation to participate in the tureen supper to be served at six o'clock and all are asked to bring tureens and rolls.

The evening session will begin at 7:30 o'clock, with pageants and the speech by the state master.

Tomorrow evening, the officers of the home economics and agricultural 4-H clubs of Warren county will hold a training meeting at the local Y. M. C. A.

THE FUND DRIVE

Again the people of Warren are about to be asked to do their bit in helping to fill the Community Chest!
The objective this year is $41,800—not a large sum when we take into consideration how economic conditions have improved in recent weeks.

With the next week voluntary workers, giving unstintingly, not only of their time, but of their money as well, will be calling upon citizens of the community asking them what they intend to do to help fill the Community Chest.

That question sprays into many others. Do I by giving nothing or less than I could want to be responsible for preventing a visiting nurse from making the one necessary visit that may assure life or comfort to some ailing person? Will some child through no fault of its own miss the helping hand of a social service agency because I failed to give at all or up to my ability?

These questions could be raised in connection with the work of every one of the numerous agencies, whose destiny is interwoven with the Community Chest campaign and whose ability to serve depends entirely upon the capacity or willingness of members of this community to provide the funds.

The obligation and the opportunity to meet this situation rests upon the community, all of it, not part of it. Inevitably the degrees of responsibility vary according to the means of the individual, but only those whose plight is nearly identical with those distressed persons in whose interest community campaigns are waged can escape the conviction of individual responsibility.

Unless adequate funds are raised the spirit of the good neighbor cannot flourish as it should in a community like Warren. It means curtailing service for the sick, for the needy and distressed, for the youngsters with heavy handicaps, for unstable families with serious problems, for lads and lassies who profit by Scout training, for those children in destitute families that may go undernourished, for those who need district nurses, for all in this community who in one way or another have been slighted by good fortune.

That being so, each person must ask him or herself between now and next week what he or she is going to do in the way of making an annual contribution, to ease the lot of others less fortunate.

PROUD PURCHASERS

Local post office officials are justly elated over the interest shown in the opening of the local sale of United States defense bonds and stamps with appropriate exercises on the steps of the building at the corner of Liberty street and Third avenue, this morning.

In Warren, as well as in every city, town and hamlet in the country long lines of proud purchasers started leaving the wickets of post offices under similar circumstances this morning. They are the patriotic citizens who are entrusting their savings to their government.

By so doing they are doing three things: Providing part of the money needed for defense; providing a cushion of savings to help themselves and keep business buoyed up when the emergency is over; and voluntarily restricting their own present purchasing power and thus helping to avert danger of price inflation.

Those are three mighty important objectives to achieve by merely stepping up to a window and pushing through a little spare money. They justify the pride every man and woman will feel as they stride home with the little savings bond tucked away in pocket or purse.

The final event of a busy May day in Warren will take place this evening at 8:15 o'clock when there will be a program free to the public at the high school, including motion pictures and two addresses concerning the control of cancer. You are cordially invited to attend.

It appears that one of the next big events in Warren will be the marble tournament starting Saturday.

April certainly did herself proud, so far as the weather was concerned.

Blackout Test While Vol-
ing Defense Billions

Washington, May 1.—The American people still don't think this war is real, or that it's coming over on this side of the ocean.
No more significant proof of that statement could be asked for than is furnished by the refusal of Congress to pass a bill authorizing an experimental blackout in the District of Columbia. The reason for the defeat was simply that the congressmen didn't believe the country should be scared, didn't believe that anyone in the United States proper should feel that anyone in the District of Columbia was at all jittery about anything, although there isn't an air raid shelter in the city and the few anti-aircraft guns are old style and in the hands of the national guard.

The defense of Washington is right where it was in the 1790's when the French Major L'Enfant planned the city so that the Capitol and the White House could be surrounded with cannon to fire down on anyone so bold and foolhardy as to dare an assault.

It was only a few years later that the British sailed up the Potomac and burned the Capitol to prove that L'Enfant's defense plan was inadequate. And today, with aircraft carriers, dive bombers and parachute troops, Washington couldn't be defended at all.

So, if this war is going to be put over as something to get excited about, someone is going to have to get out and sell it to the people. All the billions of dollars Congress has appropriated for defense apparently mean nothing. Or at best they would seem to be an indication that perhaps spending this money for guns and planes and tanks and battleships is as good a way as any to boom the country back to prosperity.

As a matter of fact, this District of Columbia blackout bill was defeated by some rather smooth political work by the Republicans.
Instead of arguing against the bill directly, the Republicans talked about the increase of federal employees in Washington from 65,000 in 1933 to 186,000 in 1940. Washington traffic jams, Washington's low tax rates, the decision of the Red Cross not to return to Washington for its annual convention because the delegates couldn't get rooms, the need for decentralizing the government, and the fact that federal travel expenses were running $150 million a year.

True, when Ham Fish of Dutchess county, N. Y., proposed a jazz amendment to put air raid sirens on all government buildings except the Department of Labor, and to provide tin hats and gas masks and asbestos suits for congressmen, the measure was simply laughed out of existence as spin-ach legislation.

The street committee of council is opening the bids for the paving contractors do not show any inclination to get their prices somewhere within a radius that the reduced price of labor and material demands, all will be refused.

Directors of the Warren County

Next Thursday, May 7, will be the ninety-ninth anniversary of the first election of Warren borough officers. The election followed the signing by Governor Wolfe, April 3, 1832, of the act "to erect the town of Warren into a borough and for other purposes." Agitation has been started for a centennial celebration to be held here next year for the hundredth anniversary.

During the past week the Warren county unemployment committee has been able to place a few men at work. It would be too much to expect that a large number had been placed and the committee feels gratified that a small beginning has been made from which it hopes bigger and better results may follow.

While no official word has been received in Warren of the awarding of the contract for the construction of Warren-Kinzua road, activities during the past few days of two representatives of the S.
J. Groves Sons, Pittsburgh, whose bid of $257,145 was low, would indicate that this firm has assurance that it is to be awarded the contract.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Wildlife Federation Issues New Poster Set

TWENTY new subjects, including the baldpate pictured in flight above, are included in the 1941 series of 40 poster stamps released by the National Wildlife Federation. This fourth annual series brings the total of species of American wildlife pictured on poster stamps to 140.

The baldpate, or American widow, is a fresh-water duck, larger than a teal but not as large as a mallard. The male is distinguished by a crown of buff. In the South American widow, the entire head is white.

In previous releases, the Federation supplies an album for the stamps, giving brief information concerning the bird, fish, tree, flower or mammal pictured on the stamp. In addition, Fred Everett, noted nature artist, has painted a large picture of the wood duck family, for a cover illustration for the album.

OPERA CHARACTERS
Music that endures is found in the realm of opera, where year after year the same stories in song are told and acted by great singers. Check the endurance of your memory with these questions about operas and their characters.

1. In what opera about a clown does there occur a play-within-a-play?
2. In what composer's operas is Kirsten Flagstad associated?
3. Name two composers who wrote operas featuring the character Figaro.
4. In what opera do we meet the characters Mephistopheles, Valentin and Marguerite?
5. What opera was revived by the Metropolitan this season with Lily Pons singing the female role?

For Finer Fragrance

"SALADA" TEA

America's Finer Tea

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Washington looks like it is going to be about the most vacationless city in the country this summer.

There's nothing official about it, but there are enough straws in the spring winds to make it appear almost definite that thousands of government workers are not going to get their 26-day leaves. It's national defense of course and the terrific pressure of business that it has caused.

There's hardly a government department or agency that hasn't been affected by the national defense speed-up and that means that nearly all of the 160 to 170 thousand federal employees will catch it in the neck if there is any curtailment of vacations.

No government official has been willing to come forward yet with the declaration that there will be no vacations in his department or agency, but I have talked with a half-dozen workers in agriculture, commerce and the treasury who have asked for extended leaves and been put off. These were stenographers and clerks.
Heads of offices and bureaus already have told me that they can't possibly get away for more than a few days at a time.

If that condition exists in these departments, think what it is in the war and navy departments, the office of production management, the maritime commission, and others which are carrying the brunt of the defense load. Already, the navy has staggered its civilian personnel into three eight-hour shifts. It is the only one that has done that, but there isn't any agency in Washington with anything to do with national defense that isn't burning midnight oil to try to keep up with the job.

Just Can't Keep Up

THE reason is that the work has expanded much more rapidly than has the personnel. In spite of the thousands of new employees and the hundreds being hired daily, there still is far more work than workers. I know of one employee in the department of justice who in the last 11 weeks has put in 226 hours over-

Aren't The Only Ones

THE chances are that the federal employees in Washington aren't the only ones who are going to miss their long holidays.
Congressional leaders already have said that as long as the national emergency exists, Congress will stay in session. The best that congressmen and their office staffs can hope for this summer are the three-day adjournments extended perhaps for brief periods by the customary "gentlemen's agreement" that no work will be done until a specified date. This isn't a very satisfactory vacation arrangement for being always "on call," the congressmen are afraid to get far from the capitol.

All in all, it looks like a long hard summer for those who run the nation's business.

Youth Week Observance in Warren Planned By "Y" Boys' Secretary

Plans for the sixth annual observance of National Youth Week in Warren were announced today by the Y. M. C. A. Many interesting events are being planned, starting Monday, May 5, and continuing through Saturday, May 10. These events are sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., under the supervision of T. F. Eppley, boys' secretary of the association.

Feature of the week will be the National Marble Tournament, to be held each evening at 6:30 p. m. The tournament will be conducted by schools, with a tournament held at a different school each night and the finals at the Bealy school on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. The city champions will represent Warren at the national tournament in Hershey on June 15-20.

A program of activities for boys under 13 years of age has been arranged, although it was stated that contests for boys over 13 will be run in any event where there are sufficient entries.

The program follows: Monday, 3:45 p. m.—Annual roller skating contests in Hickory street, between Third and Fourth avenues.

Tuesday, 3:45 p. m.—Bicycle races in Madison avenue from Central avenue to Parker street.

Wednesday, 4:00 p. m.—Annual fish chase in the "Y" pool.

Thursday—Soap box auto race (jallopies) in Prospect street between Division street and Fifth avenue.

Friday—Annual Gra-Y track meet at Bealy Field, open to any boy registered in a Gra-Y Club. The events will include a 50-yard dash, 11-mile race, broad jump, high jump and 11-mile relay.

Saturday—For one hour between 11 a. m. and 12 noon, city offices will be taken over by boys chosen from the "Y" Boys' Council. 2:30 p. m.—Marble tournament finals.

All boys are urged to enter as many of the contests as possible. Entries can be made at the various schools, or at the point of the contest on the day scheduled for that event.

Gold embossed ribbons will be presented to the winners of first, second and third places in each event.

OFFICER EXONERATED

Bedford, Pa., May 1—(P)—William Clawson, borough policeman, was exonerated by a coroner's jury yesterday in the death of David Gardner, who succumbed in the county jail last April 22 after being locked up on a charge of drunkenness.

More than 30 witnesses told of a scuffle between the officer and his prisoner at the Gardner home but the jury decided the death certificate, attributing death to acute alcoholism, was correct.

Pillsbury answers your questions about this new enrichment of white flour

● You understand that modern science has perfected a way to add precious food elements to your "daily bread." But just what is being added? What does it mean to you? Here, briefly, are the answers to these natural questions of yours:

1. Vitamin B (thiamin) is added—helps the body make proper use of energy foods (carbohydrates), which is essential to: (a) Proper growth in children, (b) Good appetite for both young and old, (c) Sound nerves, (d) Ability to thrive on hard physical work.
2. Iron is added—helps build red blood.
3. Vitamin P-P is added—another member of the Vitamin B complex, which also overcomes certain deficiencies in the diet.

● Every pound of Pillsbury's Best is now enriched with these three food essentials.

Identify these MAD DOCTORS

...Prizes!

THE MAD DOCTOR

Film fans! How well do you remember your mad doctors? Here's your chance to meet the most astounding "fiend" in white, ever to be presented on the screen. Name the mad medicos—criminals and experts in black magic—whom you see above. If your guesses are correct, you can be one of the ten people who will receive guest tickets to see Paramount's "The Mad Doctor," which comes Saturday and Sunday to the Columbia Theatre.

Basil Rathbone is cast in the title role of this new picture, with Ellen Drew and John Howard starred in the romantic leads.

To win, you must name the four stars pictured and give the titles of the pictures in which they portrayed the mad doctor roles illustrated above. Send your contest entries to the Times-Mirror, care Contest Editor, not later than Friday noon.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES

Curtains on the line, furniture on the porch, pails of suds to stumble over—spring cleaning! Sunshine has a way of showing up the furniture's shabbiness; the curtains may not stand up another laundering. So the clever housewife may look for needle, thread and new ideas to remedy the matter.

Home Decoration With Fabric and Thread is one of the most practical working books that has come to the library shelves. Discarded chairs, problem windows, and all types of household camouflage are treated by Ruth Wyeth Spears with the simple but clever tricks that give homes the professional touch. Dorothy Draper's Entertaining is Fun, mentioned in last week's Public Library Notes, makes a good companion volume for decorating ideas.

For those whose spring fever breaks out in wanderlust rather than house rejuvenation, a good travel book seems to be a helpful prescription. Many a Green Isle by Glanville Smith shows what friendly curiosity, an inquiring eye, and a gifted pen can make out of a trip to the West Indies. The reader becomes very grateful that a Guggenheim Fellowship made it possible for this young journalist to make such a trip and write his first full-length book.

There are several books for circulation this Saturday morning which furnish concentrated food for thought on the world situation. Ambassador Dodd's Diary reveals the reactions of one diplomat who seemed to realize what was happening in Berlin between 1933 and 1937. The distinguished poet and head of the Library of Congress, Archibald MacLeish, has written in The American Cause a short but stirring appeal to the American people. Clarence Streit's proposal for a federal union of the democracies made his book Union Now famous. His appeal now, with the falling away of some of those democracies, is to America and Britain in Union Now With Britain.

Other books equally interesting are on display until Saturday morning when they will be circulated for the first time at nine o'clock. They are Let My People Go by Henrietta Buckmaster; The Kaw, Heart of a Nation by F. B. Streeter, latest of the Rivers of America Series; Entertaining Is Fun by Dorothy Draper; Introduction to Physiological Chemistry by M. Bodansky; Audel's Welders' Guide by F. D. Graham; The Art of Group Worship by R. S. Smith; Why Not Know Florida by H. Von Broesen and The Struggle for Judicial Supremacy by Robert H. Jackson.

Youth Week Observance in Warren Planned By "Y" Boys' Secretary

Plans for the sixth annual observance of National Youth Week in Warren were announced today by the Y. M. C. A. Many interesting events are being planned, starting Monday, May 6, and continuing through Saturday, May 10. These events are sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., under the supervision of T. F. Eppley, boys' secretary of the association.

Feature of the week will be the National Marble Tournament, to be held each evening at 6:30 p. m. The tournament will be conducted by schools, with a tournament held at a different school each night and the finals at the Beaty school on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. The city champion will represent Warren at the national tournament in Hershey on June 15-20.

A program of activities for boys under 13 years of age has been arranged, although it was stated that contests for boys over 13 will be run in any event where there are sufficient entries.

The program follows:
Monday, 3:45 p. m.—Annual roller skating contests in Hickory street, between Third and Fourth avenues.

Tuesday, 3:45 p. m.—Bicycle races in Madison avenue from Central avenue to Parker street.

Wednesday, 4:00 p. m.—Annual fish chase in the "Y" pool.

Thursday—Soap box auto race (jalopies) in Prospect street between Division street and Fifth avenue.

Friday—Annual Gra-Y track meet at Beaty Field, open to any boy registered in a Gra-Y Club. The events will include a 50-yard dash, 1/4-mile race, broad jump, high jump and 1/4-mile relay.

Saturday—Fun one hour between 11 a. m. and 12 noon, city offices will be taken over by boys chosen from the "Y" Boys' Council. 2:30 p. m.—Marble tournament finals.

All boys are urged to enter as many of the contests as possible. Entries can be made at the various schools, or at the point of the contest on the day scheduled for that event.

Cable Hollow

Cable Hollow, April 28—Mrs. Neva Carnehan and son Dale, Miss Versal and Joyce Perigo and Mrs. Nina Pasco with well filled baskets drove to the home of Mrs. Myrtle Towne on Quaker Hill to help her celebrate her birthday on Tuesday, Mrs. Carnehan baked the birthday cake.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Dorothy Schuyler entertained the Archie Pasco family to dinner at her home in Jamestown in honor of Robert Pasco who will leave for induction in the army on May fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Pasco and family were dinner guests of Mr.

and Mrs. C. E. Carnehan in Warren on Sunday.

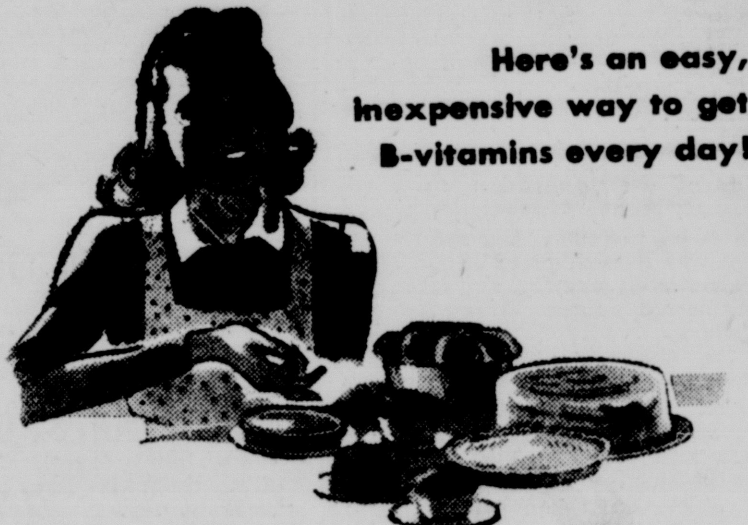

David Van Orsdale visited at Big Bend Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reed of Jamestown visited at the home of Arthur Potter on Sunday.

OFFICER EXONERATED

Bedford, Pa., May 1—(P)—William Clawson, borough policeman, was exonerated by a coroner's jury yesterday in the death of David Gardner, who succumbed in the county jail last April 22 after being locked up on a charge of drunkenness.

More than 30 witnesses told of a scuffle between the officer and his prisoner at the Gardner home last night. The jury decided the death certificate, attributing death to acute alcoholism, was correct.

Here's an easy,

B-vitamins every day!

Extra vitamins and iron in every food you bake with

Enriched Pillsbury's Best Flour

● THREE PRECIOUS FOOD ELEMENTS have been added to Pillsbury's Best Flour—Vitamin B₁, iron, and Vitamin P-P. Your children need these vitamins every day for proper growth. Your whole family needs them every day so their bodies can make proper use of energy foods (carbohydrates). This is essential to sound nerves, good appetite, the ability to thrive on hard physical work.

Now, at last, here are vitamins within the means of every family! For flour... even the finest flour... is one of the cheapest foods known to man!

Remember... good-baking flour, like Pillsbury's Best, is still the same good-baking flour after it has been enriched—but inferior flour, even if it is enriched, is still inferior flour. And remember something else—enrichment itself must be done carefully, so that each bag will be uniformly enriched. The same strict milling standards which make Pillsbury's Best a fine "baking" flour also make it a uniformly enriched flour!

Uncle Sam asked for this enriched flour.

Pillsbury answers your questions about this new enrichment of white flour

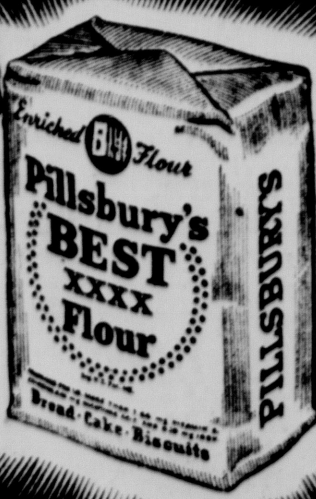

- You understand that modern science has perfected a way to add precious food elements to your "daily bread." But just what is being added? What does it mean to you? Here, briefly, are the answers to those natural questions of yours:
- 1. Vitamin B₁ (thiamine) is added—helps the body make proper use of energy foods (carbohydrates), which is essential to: (a) Proper growth in children, (b) Good appetite for both young and old, (c) Sound nerves, (d) Ability to thrive on hard physical work.
- 2. Iron is added—helps build red blood.
- 3. Vitamin P-P is added—another member of the Vitamin B complex, which also overcomes certain deficiencies in the diet.
- Every pound of Pillsbury's Best is now enriched with these three food essentials.

ANEMIA

The healthy person must have the required number of red blood cells, each containing the proper amount of hemoglobin, iron and oxygen, and these cells must be healthy in many other respects.

The first symptom of anemia is weakness and a general feeling of weariness, without apparent reason. Only a trained physician can distinguish between several kinds of anemia and prescribe for the cause.

In some cases of anemia there are no outward effects, in other cases the blood analysis shows a deficiency in iron and oxygen, and the blood-making machinery is faulty, making the blood of some destructive power.

If you suspect anemia consult your doctor. He will give you a blood analysis. If you have some iron, or hemoglobin, seek proper treatment to build up the blood, one source.

Your doctor may be able to help you, but a real blood tonic is the only real help.

—Miami News

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Betty Lou Crockett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crockett of Miami Beach, Fla., to Dr. William F. Graves, of Warren.

The news was told at a beautifully appointed dinner party given by the bride's parents at the Patio Moresque in Miami Beach, the girls opening tiny boxes to reveal toy engagement rings and the men two small hearts attached by ribbons to bachelor buttons marking their places.

Miss Crockett, who lives at 4373 North Meridian avenue, Miami Beach, was graduated from the Ida M. Fisher Senior High School, attended Brenau College, where she was a member of Alpha Delta Pi, national sorority, and later was graduated from Ward-Belmont College.

Dr. Graves is the son of Mrs. Fred Graves, Miami and Saranac Lake, N. Y. He attended Genoa School in Miami, Villa Nova College and received his degree in dental surgery at Temple University. He has taken post-graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh and receives his master's degree in June.

Red Cross Seeks 1,000 U. S. Doctors To Aid Britain on Far-flung Front

Above, Britain's long lines of defense, crosses marking points where American doctors will serve. Right, a Royal Army Medical Corps physician, treating an emergency case, wears the uniform which American doctors may choose to wear in serving Britain.

Washington, D. C.—Out of the agony of bomb-ravaged Britain has come an appeal for American doctors.

Britain's request is being met. Already the American Red Cross, acting for her sister society in England, has carried the appeal to the nation's medical profession. Up to 1,000 American doctors will be needed by the British Red Cross to supplement the hard-pressed corps of doctors engaged in saving British lives from London to Singapore.

American Red Cross workers who have been in England since the outset of hostilities report the need is acute. Formerly a nation at war needed doctors to treat the sick and wounded on the battle front. Today, with aerial bombardment of civilians, Britain finds her doctors fighting against desperate odds.

American doctors will report to the British Red Cross where they will be allowed to choose service either in the Royal Army Medical Corps or in the civilian Emergency Medical Service, the valiant corps of physicians assigned to home defense.

Their service will be for one year, but if at the end of that period they wish to continue, they will be eligible to promotion. To be eligible for service with the R.A.M.C. doctors must be 40 or younger, while the E.M.S. will accept men up to 45.

Despite the cruel aspects of our hostilities, American physicians answering Britain's appeal are protected by the Red Cross Treaty of Geneva, a 75-year-old international agreement still in force on the battlefields.

American doctors, as far as possible, will be allowed to choose where they will serve—whether it be in London, Rangoon, the Middle East or any point of emergency along the far-stretched lines of British defense.

The appeal of the British Red Cross has the endorsement of the President of the United States, the Secretary of War and the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service. Those doctors subject to military training under our own flag are being given special consideration by the Selective Service.

ANEMIA

The healthy person must have the required number of red blood cells, each containing the proper amount of hemoglobin (iron and oxygen), and these cells must be healthy in many other respects.

The first symptom of Anemia is weakness and a general feeling of nervousness, without apparent reason. Only a trained physician can distinguish between several kinds of Anemia and prescribe for their treatment.

In some cases of Anemia there is a lack of red blood cells, in others, plenty of cells, but a lack of hemoglobin in them. In other cases the blood analysis shows something vitally wrong with the blood-making machinery of the body, or presence in the blood of some destructive poison.

If you suspect Anemia consult your physician and follow his treatment. If you have some infection, such as bad teeth, tonsils or hemorrhoids, seek proper advice, because infection pouring into the blood is one source of Anemia.

Your Doctor may be able to help you overcome this "half-alive" state and again enjoy real health and a full, active life.

Junior Members In Annual Program At The Philomel Club

Junior Philomel members presented a very pleasing program Wednesday afternoon in their annual appearance before adult members of the club. Miss Patty Smith, president, announced the numbers on the program.

The opening group of two selections was played by the high school string ensemble, which is directed by Harry A. Summers and composed of the following students: Patty Smith, Jimmy Shortt, Mary Freund, Mae Lawson, Joyce Peterson, Louise Eaton, Dorothy Ann Harris, Betty Mae Rudolph, Joyce Barnes, Norman Huck and Robert Folkman.

Piano soloists heard were Alice Alexander, Ann Newmaker, Patty Coe, Nema Glassman, Mary Frances Lyon, Marian Kridler, Jo Mackay and Patty Knapp. Virginia Davis sang a soprano solo, with Lois Johnson at the piano and Margaret Blick played the violin selection.

In opening the meeting, Mrs. Alice Russell, club president, welcomed the Juniors and also the members of the Little Bach Society, especially invited for the occasion.

She announced that next Wednesday's business meeting will include the annual election of officers and other important matters to come before the club; also that the May 14 meeting is the last for this season and will be in charge of Mrs. Mary Albrecht, with Mrs. H. F. Clawson heading the hostess committee.

Mrs. Russell urged members to support the spring concert to be given by the high school capella choir on May 8.

At the close of the program, Mrs. Owen McLeister and the hostesses served tea in the club parlors. On her committee were Mrs. Clarence Beckley, Mrs. Edith Smith, Miss Ethel McCray, Mrs. T. J. Black and Mrs. E. O. Pequinot, of Tidoulet.

Without an atmosphere, we would roast in the daytime, and freeze at night.

Regional Meeting Of State W. C. T. U. In Bradford Church

Mrs. Mabel E. Dallas, of Sugar Grove, who is head of the Warren County W.C.T.U., will have an active part in the two-day northern regional convention of the Pennsylvania W. C. T. U., being held in the First Methodist church at Bradford today and tomorrow.

This spring's convention theme is "The Child in the Midst" and Mrs. Dallas will speak at the Friday morning session on "This Millitary Age and the Child".

Counties included in this gathering are Butler, Clarion, Crawford, Elk, Erie, Forest, Jefferson, Lawrence, McKean, Mercer, Venango and Warren.

Prominent officials from throughout the state will participate in the discussions or give addresses at the various sessions. Stress will be placed upon peace, responsibility of the organization, the home, the church, environment, character building and alcohol education.

FORMER WARREN GIRL IS BRIDE

Announcement has been received here of the marriage of Miss Margaret G. Anderson, formerly of Warren and daughter of Mr. Frank S. Kientz, of Buffalo, N. Y., to Raymond W. Place, son of Mrs. Emma Place, of North Tonawanda, N. Y. The ceremony took place April 26 in the Central Presbyterian church in Buffalo. Dr. Leonard V. Euschnan officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, William Anderson, of Warren, was attended by Miss Alva Tanner, Miss Dorothy Kornacki and Miss Mary Kientz, of Buffalo. Irving Stevenson, of Niagara Falls, was best man and ushers were Philmore Anderson, of Buffalo, and Joseph Heim, of North Tonawanda.

Among the out of town guests for the wedding and five o'clock dinner were Miss Gene Burns, Mrs. Harry Rapp and sons, Raymond and Richard, Mrs. Louis Johnson, Miss Ellen and Miss Nannie Anderson, Miss Viola and Miss Evelyn Carlson, Warren.

The couple will make their home in North Tonawanda for the present.

Group Meetings

4-H Club meetings of the week have included the following: Corydon group on Monday and North Warren group at the home of Carol Bogart the same evening; Glade Suburban girls on Tuesday afternoon for program planning; Lander organization on Wednesday and Stoneham group the same afternoon.

The Irvinedale unit will meet May 5 at the home of Erma Hansen and the Chandlers Valley group will meet next Tuesday.

To date, the following home economics clubs have been organized: Corydon, Clarion, Stoneham, Glade, Irvinedale, North Warren, Chandlers Valley, Lander, Starbrick, Triumph, Cobham Hill, Columbus and Sanford. This is an increase of five over the highest total of last summer.

Spring Meeting

About 130 women who have belonged to home economics extension groups in Warren county during the past year or have been interested in the work attended the annual achievement day held at the Y. W. C. A. A large number of articles made by members were on display and attracted considerable attention. One of these included four chairs with cane seats, the project of Mrs. Howard Magee of Stoneham, which illustrated the various steps in refinishing and re-caning chairs.

Several of the groups staged short skits which will report of meetings held made up the morning program. Mrs. Merle Schweitzer very ably led the group singing. A tureen luncheon was served at noon.

The afternoon speaker was Miss Edith Morton, home management specialist from State College, whose topic was "Kitchens". Her talk proved a very interesting and practical one and was illustrated with excellent color slides of kitchen improvement work which has been done throughout the state. Warren county homemakers planning changes in their kitchens found it most timely.

You can see that a three no trump contract by North and South would easily be defeated with a club opening. I thought that the defense which must be employed against the four-spade contract is unusually interesting and yet not really difficult.

With West's weak hand, his marked opening is the deuce of diamonds. The tendency on the part of most East players would be to win with the ace, return a diamond for his partner to ruff, hoping to get back in with the ace of trumps and maybe give West another ruff. But the word "may-

MATRON'S SLIM PANELLED FROCK

Pattern 4679 By Anne Adams

You'll hardly recognize yourself when you pose before the mirror in this attractive frock. For Pattern 4679 is expertly planned by Anne Adams to slim you beyond your fondest dreams. A well-shaped panel goes all down the front to give you height and take away from your width. The rounded shape of the shoulder yokes that so effectively hold-in the gathered softness are matched by curved hip-seaming, with easy skirt fullness below. The entire back of the frock is cut in two pieces, darted-in smoothly at the waistline. Merry scalloping is shown at the neckline, though a straight-edge version is included. Use ric-rac at the yokes and the optional cuffs for a colorful note. And try the front panel in contrast.

Pattern 4679 is available in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 36 takes 3 1/2 yards ric-rac.

Junior Members In Annual Program At The Philomel Club

Junior Philomel members presented a very pleasing program Wednesday afternoon in their annual appearance before adult members of the club. Miss Patty Smith, president, announced the numbers on the program.

The opening group of two selections was played by the high school string ensemble, which is directed by Harry A. Summers and composed of the following students: Patty Smith, Jimmy Shortt, Mary Freund, Mae Lawson, Joyce Peterson, Louise Eaton, Dorothy Ann Harris, Betty Mae Rudolph, Joyce Barnes, Norman Huck and Robert Folkman.

Piano soloists heard were Alice Alexander, Ann Newmaker, Patty Coe, Nema Glassman, Mary Frances Lyon, Marian Kridler, Jo Mackay and Patty Knapp. Virginia Davis sang a soprano solo, with Lois Johnson at the piano and Margaret Blick played the

Regional Meeting Of State W. C. T. U. In Bradford Church

Mrs. Mabel E. Dallas, of Sugar Grove, who is head of the Warren County W.C.T.U., will have an active part in the two-day northern regional convention of the Pennsylvania W. C. T. U., being held in the First Methodist church at Bradford today and tomorrow.

This spring's convention theme is "The Child in the Midst" and Mrs. Dallas will speak at the Friday morning session on "This Military Age and the Child".

Counties included in this gathering are: Butler, Clarion, Crawford, Elk, Erie, Forest, Jefferson, Lawrence, McKean, Mercer, Venango and Warren.

Prominent officials from throughout the state will participate in the discussions or give addresses at the various sessions. Stress will be placed upon peace, responsibility of the organization, the home, the church, environment, character building and alcohol education.

Without an atmosphere, we would roast in the daytime, and freeze at night.

Home Economics

Group Meetings

4-H Club meetings of the week have included the following: Corydon group on Monday and North Warren group at the home of Carol Bogart the same evening; Glade Sunbonnet girls on Tuesday afternoon for program planning; Lander organization on Wednesday and Stoneham group the same afternoon.

The Irvinedale unit will meet May 5 at the home of Erma Hansen and the Chancellors Valley group will meet next Tuesday.

To date, the following home economics clubs have been organized: Corydon, Clarion, Stoneham, Glade Irvinedale, North Warren, Chancellors Valley, Lander, Starbrick, Triumph, Cobham Hill, Columbus and Sanford. This is an increase of five over the highest total of last summer.

Spring Meeting

About 130 women who have belonged to home economics extension groups in Warren county during the past year or have been interested in the work attended the annual achievement day held at the Y. W. C. A. A large number of articles made by members were on display and attracted considerable attention. One of these included four chairs with cane seats, the project of Mrs. Howard Magee of Stoneham, which illustrated the various steps in refinishing and re-caning chairs.

Several of the groups staged short skits which, with reports of meetings held, made up the morning program. Mrs. Merle Schweitzer very ably led the group singing. A tureen luncheon was served at noon.

The afternoon speaker was Miss Edith Morton, home management specialist from State College, whose topic was "Kitchens". Her talk proved a very interesting and practical one and was illustrated with excellent color slides of kitchen improvement work which has been done throughout the state. Warren county homemakers planning changes in their kitchens found it most timely.

East should reason that South must have at least five spades, otherwise he would be playing the contract at three no trump. Therefore, West can have but two spades, so that it will be impossible for him to get two ruffs.

But West might hold the king of hearts, even the ace. If he holds the ace, he won't lose it, but the king of hearts would have to be established quickly for West.

East's correct play, therefore, is to return a heart, and even though South jumps up with the ace, East wins the first trump lead with the ace of spades, leads back a diamond for West to ruff, and now West can cash the king of hearts and the contract is defeated.

It has come to my attention that there are many who are not aware of the huge fish stocks in the State Fish Commission. Thirty-seven plantings in over thirty of the large streams were made prior to the opening of the trout season. All the large size trout are now measuring up to 15 inches in length.

With nearly 10,000 large trout added to the number over-wintered in the streams of Allegheny National Forest, the sportmen have a personal interest in helping to preserve their lives.

The fact that no fires occurred on the opening day of trout season—when there was an extremely dangerous day from the weather standpoint—says, Mr. Hemming more than any, that the sportmen who come here to fish appreciate the fact

- They will adapt and develop new methods and understanding of the latest information as to the requirements for this examination.
- They will develop application forms, may be developed by the Board of U. S. Service Examiners, at the request of the Insurance Commissioner in the Secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

With this cooperation, we are expected many large river, he said. Our forest fire can quickly under control, he said, by stocking and will leave the stream in poor condition to support fish life.

Some fires are caused by careless fishermen who have not realized the direct dependence of the fish on the quality of the conditions, but on the whole, the lesson has been learned.

There are many small game preserves and that they also have personal interest in keeping them in good condition. The number of fires resulting from careless smokers and campers will be greatly reduced, he stated.

Army Changes Buying System to Get Fresh Vegetables and Fruits at Market Prices

By RICE YAHNER
Associated Press Correspondent
Indiantown Gap, May 1.—(P)—To get fresh vegetables and fruits for the soldiers at prevailing market prices, the army has changed its buying system from monthly contracts to three-weekly purchases and has sent a civilian marketing specialist to Indiantown Gap.

"The change was made to give the soldiers the best foods at the lowest prices; more and fresher fruits and vegetables," said Herbert V. Abel, former Harrisburger assigned from the quartermaster market center at Philadelphia.

"Heretofore, there usually was one contractor for each commodity, one man sold a month's supply of potatoes, another sold all the cabbage needed, but now we'll buy only two days supply at a time and we'll be buying at the market instead of at a fictional level," Abel explained. "Under the old system a distributor couldn't be sure that the price he bid would hold up for any length of time. Sometimes he lost and sometimes the government lost on market fluctuations."

Abel, who was a distributor of fruit and vegetables in the Harrisburg district from 1921 to 1937 but more recently was in the commission business in Chicago, declined to speculate on the possible effect of the new buying system on the markets for Pennsylvania farm produce.

He pointed out that the government stipulates that the merchant will bid on the entire two-day supply of fruits and vegetables on an "all or none" basis. That means, for instance, that the distributor will be required to bid on and, if successful, furnish a 45,000-pound order of carrots, cabbage, peppers, fresh lima beans, turnips, potatoes and apples which, at the present time, is a normal two-day ration of such commodities for the 12,000 enlisted men in camp. Officers' messes are supplied individually, with the members paying for their subsistence.

"We'll furnish the camp with nearby home-raised produce whenever it is available," Abel said. "We'll contact the various county farm agents. These agents will get in touch with the farmers asking them to quote on whatever commodity that is available in sufficient quantity and meets government specifications."

One of the items on a two-day ration order was 135 boxes of Stayman apples from an eastern Pennsylvania orchard (Texler). The change in the buying system was in preparation in the shift in the camp from the "garrison ration" to the "field ration." It goes into effect May 1. Actually there will be little change in the food served and the menus for all camps will be the same. The army stipulates what the food, and the grade, will be for each meal to insure nutritional standards and facilitate buying.

For instance, this is the menu for next Thursday, in all the camps: Breakfast—Tomato juice, farina, fresh milk, ham omelet, fried potatoes, bread and butter, coffee; dinner (noon)—tomato rice soup, braised beef, mashed potatoes, creamed corn, beet salad, bread and butter, coffee, rice pudding; supper—chili con carne, macaroni and tomatoes, carrots and peas, bread and butter, doughnuts, coffee and jam.

The maximum ration allowance per man per day is 45 cents. To feed 100 men a menu like Thursday's costs $38.07 per 100 men. On that basis the day's meals would cost about $4,500 for the camp.

When the division reaches full strength this summer the subsistence bill for enlisted men alone will be nearly $250,000 a month.

CAPITAL GOSSIP

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—In a hole in the ground in Kentucky, the U.S.A. has nearly all of its gold buried. Some day, in a hole in the ground in Kansas (or somewhere) the country may have much of its culture buried.

Archibald MacLeish, head of the Library of Congress, has been pushing the Library's M-day scheme for months. He now is able to report that before any bomb blasts the old-fashioned building that houses more than 6,000,000 books, 1,500,000 maps and cartographers' photographs, nearly that many pieces of music, and at least a half million fine prints, plans will have been completed to make some 600,000 of the most treasured of these items safe against blitzkrieg.

The details are a secret, but since they are based on the experiences of great libraries abroad, some conclusions may be drawn.

In the first place, there is the problem of the selection of books, manuscripts, prints, to be saved. To get at this, Librarian MacLeish appointed Dr. Jerrold Orne, a fellow of the Library, as coordinator. Then he asked for volunteers to work on the cataloging. Seven hundred men and women stepped forward and to date they have put in more than 10,000 hours of overtime (without pay or compensating time off) to get the library's treasures tagged for storage.

Originals Head List

AT THE head of the list are such irreplaceable literary and historical gems as the original Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, Lincoln's first drafts of the Gettysburg address, the private papers of George Washington and other Presidents, Thomas Jefferson's library (or rather what was left of it after the British got through burning Washington in 1814) and thousands of irreplaceable first editions which comprise almost all the masterpieces of American literature. There also is that famous Gutenberg Bible. There are scores of prints, including the world-known Pennell collection of etchings. There are musical gems like original scores by the great German composers, Beethoven, Brahms and Wagner. There also are Payne's original "Home, Sweet Home," Key's "Star

Were Years Ahead

SOME of the great libraries and museums of Europe were more than five years ahead of the United States in working out this problem of preserving their most valuable assets. The business dates back a lot further than that, though. Ever since the great library at Alexandria was destroyed nearly 2,000 years ago, librarians have been trying to plan against "any eventualities" in time of war.

The art galleries, museums and other libraries in Washington, already following the lead of the Library of Congress—even the newly opened National (Mellon) Gallery of Art—are working on methods of burying their treasures where no blast from the skies can touch them.

Library and museum officials say this work is not confined entirely to Washington. Requests for suggestions from other cities have been numerous and it is likely the army or some other agency will include such suggestions in the series of pamphlets now being prepared about what to do in case of air attacks.

TRAPPED WITH BROKEN BACK

Philadelphia, May 1.—(P)—A Pennsylvania Railroad freight brakeman for nearly an hour last night suffered the agonies of a broken back and crushed chest without medical attention.

Part of that time workers were trying to extricate Samuel P. Dickey, 28, from between a freight car and a loading platform at the McCahan Sugar Refinery. A doctor finally reached the scene and administered a sedative.

With one delay and another, including difficulty in getting an ambulance, it was an hour and 40 minutes after the accident before Dickey reached a hospital.

Total deaths in the United States for 1940 are estimated at 1,420,000.

FORESTS AGAIN NEED RAINS TO PREVENT FIRES

The last soaking rain occurred on April 18 within the Allegheny National Forest. According to Supervisor R. F. Hemingway the unusually dry weather for this time of year has greatly increased the number of forest fires. Since April 5 the Kane weather station reports only 4 storms when more than 1-10 inch of rain fell. The total for the month is 2.46 inches. Twenty-two days have been dry and often windy.

Eighteen fires since April 10 have kept the ranger force busy, he stated. The use of CCC enrollees and close cooperation with the State Dept. of Forests & Waters have enabled them to keep all of the fires relatively small. Close to 200 acres have been burned so far. The Complanter District of the State reports 95 woods fires to date.

With the dry weather continuing there is considerable danger of fires covering large areas before they can be stopped. The best and surest way of protecting forests from fires is to prevent them from starting. Supervisor Hemingway is making an appeal to all National Forest visitors to use the utmost care with fire and requests that everyone refrain from smoking while walking through the woods. A good rain will bring the fire danger back to normal, but in the meantime we need everyone's help in keeping fires out of the woods. He requests that you obtain a free campfire permit and smoke only in safe places.

X-Ray Helps Find TB

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

The fiftieth anniversary meeting of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society will be held in Philadelphia in the first week of May, 1942, in conjunction with the National Tuberculosis Association's thirty-eighth annual meeting with the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel as headquarters. Early preparations include the writing of the history of the Pennsylvania Society, which is the oldest voluntary tuberculosis organization.

The vision, crusading spirit and vigorous leadership of Dr. Lawrence F. Flick were responsible for the founding of the Society in 1892, with the title of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

An interesting book on the life of Dr. Flick has been written by his daughter, Miss Ella M. E. Flick, and published by the White Haven Sanatorium Association as a memorial to its founder. Miss Flick traces the life of her distinguished father from childhood in Cambria County, Pa., to his death in Philadelphia in July, 1938. Dr. Flick had a personal but successful struggle with tuberculosis in his young manhood.

FACTS

1. Tuberculosis is caused by a germ—the tubercle bacillus.
2. Tuberculosis is not inherited.
3. Tuberculosis often exists without the presence of symptoms and signs.
4. Tuberculosis is no respecter of persons.
5. Tuberculosis is curable if found early.
6. Tuberculosis is preventable—though not by vaccination or immunization.

Chandlers Valley

Chandlers Valley, April 29—The Luther League sponsored a banquet in honor of the 1941 Confirmation Class at the church parlors Friday evening. The following program was given: Florence Landberg and Evert Anderson; vocal duet, Jeanette Brostrom and Rev. Johnson. At this time the toastmaster, Harold Carlson, introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Bertil Edquist, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Warren. A cornet and trumpet duet was given by Max Gage and Rodney Engstrom.

Willard Ekdahl has been ill the past week. Mrs. C. L. Ekdahl has been substituting for him in the school.

Mrs. Mildred Hunt and daughter, Beverly of Fredonia spent their vacation with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Louise Akins.

Mrs. Frank Crowl entertained at a kitchen shower Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. John E. Johnson, the former Esther Johnson. The afternoon was spent in assembling a bride's book after which lunch was served. The bride received

Civil Service Examinations

An examination for positions as training specialist, paying from $3,200 to $5,600 a year, has been announced by the United States Civil Service Commission. Separate employment lists will be set up according to the types of training work for which eligibles are qualified. Applications must be on file at the Commission's Washington office not later than May 28, 1941.

Responsible experience in organizing, developing, and administering programs for training employees in industry, business, or government is required. Applicants must have demonstrated their ability to use a variety of techniques and training methods, as well as a thorough knowledge of at least one field in which they have organized and administered a training program. In addition to this experience, completion of either a 4-year college course or 4 years of additional experience is required.

Training specialists will plan, organize, and direct training programs for a variety of technical and professional personnel in a major department of the Government. They will act as consultants to operating departments in matters of training procedures and policy, and will adapt and devise training methods and materials.

Full information as to the requirements for this examination, and application forms, may be obtained from W. U. McMichael, Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at the office or customhouse in this city, or from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at any first or second-class postoffice.

Fire Prevention Is Important To Good Fishing In District

It has come to my attention, stated Supervisor R. F. Henningway, that there are many who are not aware of the huge fish stocking program of the State Fish Commission. Thirty-seven plantings in over thirty of the larger streams were made prior to the opening of the trout season. All were legal size trout with some measuring up to 18 inches in length.

With nearly 40,000 large trout added to the number overwintering in the streams of Allegheny National Forest, the sportsmen has a personal interest in helping to prevent forest fires.

The fact that no fires occurred on the opening day of trout season which was an extremely dangerous day from the weather standpoint indicates, said Mr. Henningway, that the sportsmen who come here to fish appreciate the fact that green forests mean good fishing. With this cooperation, we escaped many large fires, he said. One forest fire can quickly undo the good accomplished in stream stocking and will leave the streams in poor condition to support fish life for years to come.

Some fires are caused by careless fishermen who have not yet realized the direct dependence of their sport to good watershed conditions, but on the whole, this lesson has been learned. When other groups besides fishermen find that they also have a personal interest in keeping the forest unscarred from fire, the number of fires resulting from careless smokers and campers will be greatly reduced, he stated.

Hollywood Sights & Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Return of Gloria Swanson to the movies makes us think, a little sadly, of the days that were when glamour was a trade and a gal had time to work at it.

There's nobody in this modern Hollywood to take the place of the old-time Swanson—unless it's Gloria herself, who looks like a couple of million but is scarcely likely to bother about such foolishness.

Gloria is playing the smart but matronly wife of Adolphe Menjou in "Father Takes a Wife," but apparently she isn't planning to stick to the movies as a steady thing. She'll be generously necked in finery contrived by designer Rene Hubert, as "Father" is a rich wife-taker—and of course in private life she continues her old-time fondness for style.

Gloria, in her DeMille days and after, always fancied herself as a pace-setter in the clothes ring, which she was. Some of her gals of that era has a bizarre quality today even beyond the normal wackiness occasioned by perspective on fashion's changing moods. But the gals of the nation always seemed to love it, and so did Gloria.

MARLENE DIETRICH today is our nearest approach to the complete movie star once typified by Swanson—a star who wears the trappings of glamour as though born to them and makes a career of the wearing.

But Marlene is a busy gal, and most of the working stars of today's Hollywood are busy, too. Dialogue to study, swifter production schedules, occasional radio turns, "outside" businesses, concert tours, benefit appearances are among the various time-takers for the Swansons—mostly unknown. The silent era of tempestuous "feuds" and flamboyant "temperaments" of pink-lavender automobiles and Hollywood-Roman baths.

This is not to imply that all our cuties are too busy to toss an occasional kittenish claw. But studios are less tolerant than they used to be, and generally insist that "temperament" be exercised on the artist's own time. A gal has to be just plain ornery to go to that extreme.

CASTING NET: Veronica Lake's "Blonde Venus" is no relation to Dietrich's ditto of the past.

Nor is the Carole Landis-Cesar Romero "Dance Hall," a lineal descendant of the Sally Eilers-James Dunn "Dance Team." Jean Phillips, with Albert Dekker in "Among the Living," is the girl who once looked too much like Jean Harlow, for whom she was stand-in, and later looked too much like Ginger Rogers.

Elizabeth Patterson is back in rags and drabs for "Belle Starr"—after having her heart set on the presentable costumes originally designed. Gene Tierney, who may be pushing ahead too fast, is the "Starr" star.

Don't hold your breath, but "How Green Was My Valley" is supposed to start June 1, with John Ford in charge of the greenery instead of William Wyler, who'll be tending "The Little Foxes."

"Our Wife" gets Melvyn Douglas, who ought to be three people. Sleuth "Michael Shayne" (Lloyd Nolan) is as inconstant as most movie detectives: the new lady love is Mary Beth Hughes, vice Marjorie Weaver.

Lyman Barlow, Myrna Loy, with her three-picture hold on "Thin Man" Nick, seems to be the only film detective's wife who can get and keep her man.

still aren't in any mood to take defense or the war seriously, and that same psychology probably accounts for the fact that labor has refused to consider defense of the country as anything for which it should make sacrifice.

The problem of the administration is to wake the country up.

It is a safe bet, therefore, that this matter of trial blackouts will be heard of again. The whole question of civilian defense and participation in the preparedness effort is one that is bothering the administration no end. It obviously isn't an army job, but the War Department has had general staff men in Britain make a thorough study of public welfare problems in war time. What it all boils down to is that the civilian population must learn to look after itself. That's brutal, but inescapable. So far only Honolulu, Seattle, Pittsburgh and Newark have been sufficiently interested to hold their own blackouts.

Before the United States can embark on any full scale program of training the non-combatant population, it will probably be necessary for the President to declare a national emergency, instead of the existing limited emergency. Then will come coordination of all the scattered and

Yesterday's Stars

By the Associated Press
Joe Gordon, Yankees—Hit homer and three singles to bat in four runs against Browns.
Ken Keltner, Indians—Hit two-run homer in ninth inning to beat Athletics.
Ed Smith, White Sox—Kept eight hits spaced to whip Senators.
Cy Blanton, Phillies—Scattered ten hits and struck out six to stop Pirates.
Fudy York, Tigers—Batted in five runs with homer and two doubles.
Joe Medwick, Dodgers—His two-run circuit clout in eighth tied score to enable Brooklyn to edge out Reds.
Enos Slaughter, Cardinals—Led attack on Giants with three hits, including a home run.
Bill Nicholson and Billy Myers, Cubs—Each batted in two runs to help beat Braves.

The National League race is in its typical spring squeeze, tighter than the cover on a baseball.
The Brooklyn Dodgers climbed into first place Monday by winning their seventh straight game.
Tuesday they won their eighth and slipped into a tie. Yesterday they won their ninth in succession and dropped into second place.
This would seem to be going full speed forward in reverse and that may be just as clear as trying to explain the actual jam now involving the Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals.
Brooklyn has won 13 games and lost 4 for a .769 percentage while St. Louis has a record of 10 and 3 for .769.
Actually, on the basis of games won and lost, the Dodgers are in front of the Cardinals by a full game, but because the Cardinals have played fewer games, and lost less, they have an advantage in percentage.
Yesterday's ninth victory at Brooklyn came on the anniversary of their ninth straight last spring in Cincinnati, the day Tex Carleton pitched his no-hitter. What has the flatbush fans jittery today is the memory that Brooklyn was beaten a year ago today by Bucky Walters, who was slated to try to stop the Dodger onrush again this afternoon.
Johnny Vander Meer put the brakes on Brooklyn for seven innings yesterday, scattering three singles and striking out eight while his teammates routed Kirby Liggett for a 9-4 lead. But in the eighth inning Dixie Walker and Joe Medwick hit home runs, sandwiched around a walk, to tie the score and in the ninth Mickey Owen and Peevée Reese smacked a pair of doubles for a run to win 4-3.
The Cardinals hopped on Hal Schumacher for a dozen hits, including homers by country dweegee and Johnny Mize, to whip the New York Giants again 6-4. Young Sam Nahem kept out of trouble till the eighth, when Babe Young homered with two on. The Giants got only six hits.
The Chicago Cubs clustered four runs in the first and four more in the eighth to blast the Boston Bees (big pothead) the Braves) 9-4, with the help of four Boston errors.
Cy Blanton, a castoff of the Pittsburgh Pirates, kept ten hits scattered and struck out six as the Phillies pummeled the Pirates 8-4.
The Cleveland Indians extended their winning string to six, by overtaking the Athletics 6-5 on Ken Keltner's two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning. Joff Heath and Roy Weatherly also hit for the circuit for Cleveland and one of the seven safeties was a round-tripper by Benny McCoy.
The Detroit Tigers finally roused from their hitting slump to roar out with 18 hits and subdue the Boston Red Sox 12-8. Rudy York hit a home run with two on and also contributed two doubles to the attack, which concentrated eight runs in the first two frames.
The Chicago White Sox held on to second place in the junior circuit by beating the Washington Senators 5-1, scoring four runs in the eighth inning when Ken Chase blew up and walked three.
Joe Gordon and Marius Russo, led the New York Yankees to vengeance against the St. Louis Browns 7-1. Russo scattered eight hits and shutout his foes for six stanzas. Joe Gordon made four of the Yanks' 14 blows, including a homer, and drove in four runs.
Enos Slaughter, Cardinals—Led attack on Giants with three hits, including a home run.
Bill Nicholson and Billy Myers, Cubs—Each batted in two runs to help beat Braves.

South Side Market bowlers moved into the finals of the Elks Leading Knights League last night when they took two out of three games from the Turner Radios, after defeating the Hoagvall Haidwaits in the first round of the circuit's toll-off. The Turners had defeated the Simonsens in the first round.
The South Siders will meet the Turner Square Service team in the league final next Monday evening at seven o'clock.
Few high scores were rolled last night, the only games over the 200 mark being turned in by Ray Johnson, Everett Hoagvall and Barney Malone.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

Some time ago we did an about-face on the Russell Field proposition and commended the school board on electing a chain-link barrier for the Pennsylvania avenue side. Since we have looked at the park more recently, however, we have to wheel about and suggest the board construct a solid barrier, not to keep potential cash customers out, but to prevent visiting motorists from having their first impressions of our fair city completely ruined. To lapse into the vernacular, the sidelines are overgrown and the whole place covered with weeds, that's a gravel pit. The diamond is completely covered with a well first cousin to a third-rate city dump. We had hoped that a Sunset League might be engineered in some manner through the mutual efforts of the board, fans and player-labor, but it's a pretty discouraging looking garden spot at the moment. We watched Coach Leidig's tossers sliding into the bags the other night, which reminded us that this will be a great year for strawberries.

While Handsome Billy Conn should be worried about how to get away from a good left cross, out of his camp comes only the news that the Pittsburgh challenger is most concerned with raising a good crop of spinach on his face and chin for the Louis fight. Most of the big fellows have allowed their whiskers to grow, as you will remember. Jack Dempsey, Max Schmeling, Jimmy Braddock, Jim Jefferies, Firpo, Mickey Walker and Harry Greb were among those who raised hair with razor blade sales before a big fight. Fastidious Gene Tunney was among those who demurred the phizz. Mysterious Billy Smith used to claim he looked and felt tougher when he was unshaven, but Harry Grayson claims Billy had a more practical motive. He rubbed his wire-like beard on an opponent's neck, face and shoulders in the clinches, taking a little skin with each rub. Mr. Conn would do well to pass up this bet—it is not too healthy to be close enough to rub noses with the Brown Bomber.

And an interesting article of boxing is to be found in this week's Liberty magazine, in which Abe Simon, the Long Island Leviathan who lasted 13 rounds with Joe Louis to the amazement of practically everyone, promises he'll upset the champ in their next meeting. Simon, presenting in first journalistic endeavor in the current mag, says Louis told him: "You're a whale of a fighter, boy. That left of yours got to be a real pest before the bout was over." The 26-year-old heavy, insisting he will be the first Jewish title-holder in his division, says Louis' mention of his left duke was the tip-off on his ability. "Get this!" he writes. "I fought Louis with one hand—my left. My right had been broken in training nine days before the fight. After landing one punch with it, I knew it would be useless for the rest of the battle. Because my right was useless I couldn't do him any real damage, for I had to use my left chiefly to keep him off balance and prevent his getting in close." Well, we'll be seeing you again, Abraham—try to stay vertical.

May 1, 1921—Coach J. E. Leidig will get a look at his 1921 football material the afternoon when a spring gridiron game will be played at Russell Field between the seniors and players from the other three classes. Spring football is somewhat of an innovation and should prove to be very valuable to the coach and players, as well.
May 1, 1931—With no community agency willing to do anything at all about Russell Field, the Sunset League, which each year keeps up the park and contributes much to any new equipment, will build a backstop in front of the bleachers. Steve Massa and a crew of volunteer workers are already on the job.

TOP MONEY BOWLER YOUNG BOBBY JONES IN A. B. C. TOURNEY MAKES LINKS DEBUT

St. Paul, May 1.—(P)—Jimmy Blouin, Blue Island, Ill., generally regarded as the greatest money bowler of all times, visited the American Bowling Congress tourney last night.
The undefeated match champion has not competed in the annual pin classic since 1938 at Chicago, but he voiced the opinion that the layout here is tops of them all.
Blouin once won the all-events with 1,865, but match play was his forte.
None of the high ten pace setters in any event was changed yesterday.

GETS FLYING START
New York, May 1.—Frank McCormick, Cincinnati first baseman, clouted four home runs on three successive opening days. He hit one in 1939, repeated in 1940 and manufactured two this year.
Chatanooga, Tenn., May 1.—(P)—Bobby Jones, 3rd, made his bow to competitive golf today with Robert Tyne Jones, Jr., hoping he would be accepted as a 14-year-old youngster out for the fun with no idea of a tournament golf career.
"I do not want to see him become a tournament golfer," said the father who retired in 1930 without new golfing worlds to conquer. "I hope he becomes good enough to get a lot of pleasures out of the game."
"Little Bobby," a student at Marxist College in Atlanta, was among a field of 100 in the arch annual Southern Prep and High School tournament. His father predicted anything from 95 to 105 for the lad's first 18 holes in the 34 of medal play.

FORESTS AGAIN NEED RAINS TO PREVENT FIRES

The last soaking rain occurred on April 18 within the Allegheny National Forest. According to Supervisor R. F. Hemingway the unusually dry weather for this time of year has greatly increased the number of forest fires. Since April 5 the Kane weather station reports only 4 storms when more than 1-10 inch of rain fell. The total for the month is 2.46 inches. Twenty-two days have been dry and often windy.

Eighteen fires since April 10 have kept the ranger force busy, he stated. The use of CCC enrollees and close cooperation with the State Dept. of Forests & Waters have enabled them to keep all of the fires relatively small. Close to 200 acres have been burned so far. The Conplanter District of the State reports 95 woods fires to date.

With the dry weather continuing there is considerable danger of fires covering large areas before they can be stopped. The best and surest way of protecting forests from fires is to prevent them from starting. Supervisor Hemingway is making an appeal to all National Forest visitors to use the utmost care with fire and requests that everyone refrain from smoking while walking through the woods. A good rain will bring the fire danger back to normal, but in the meantime we need everyone's help in keeping fires out of the woods. He requests that you obtain a free campfire permit and smoke only in safe places.

X-Ray Helps Find TB

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

The fiftieth anniversary meeting of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society will be held in Philadelphia in the first week of May, 1942, in conjunction with the National Tuberculosis Association's thirty-eighth annual meeting with the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel as headquarters. Early preparations include the writing of the history of the Pennsylvania Society, which is the oldest voluntary tuberculosis organization.

The vision, crusading spirit and vigorous leadership of Dr. Lawrence F. Flick were responsible for the founding of the Society in 1892, with the title of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

An interesting book on the life of Dr. Flick has been written by his daughter, Miss Ella M. E. Flick, and published by the White Haven Sanatorium Association as a memorial to its founder. Miss Flick traces the life of her distinguished father from childhood in Cambria County, Pa., to his death in Philadelphia in July, 1938. Dr. Flick had a personal but successful struggle with tuberculosis in his young manhood.

FACTS

1. Tuberculosis is caused by a germ—the tubercle bacillus.
2. Tuberculosis is not inherited.
3. Tuberculosis often exists without the presence of symptoms and signs.
4. Tuberculosis is no respecter of persons.
5. Tuberculosis is curable if found early.
6. Tuberculosis is preventable—though not by vaccination or immunization.

Chandlers Valley

Chandlers Valley, April 29—The Luther League sponsored a banquet in honor of the 1941 Confirmation Class at the church parlors, Friday evening. The following program was given: Reading, Mrs. Alfred Akins, vocal duet, Florence Lindberg and Evert Anderson; vocal duet, Jeanette Brostrom and Rev. Johnson. At this time the toastmaster, Harold Carlson, introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Bertil Edquist, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Warren. A cornet and trumpet duet was given by Max Gage and Rodney Engstrom.

Willard Ekdahl has been ill the past week. Mrs. C. L. Ekdahl has been substituting for him in the school.

Mrs. Mildred Hunt and daughter, Beverly of Fredonia spent their vacation with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Louise Akins.

Mrs. Frank Crowl entertained at a kitchen shower Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. John E. Johnson, the former Esther Johnson. The afternoon was spent in assembling a bride's book after which lunch was served. The bride received

SALVATION ARMY MOVIES SHOWN FOR KIWANIS

Local Students Are Given Recognition At U. of Michigan

At the weekly luncheon meeting of the Warren Kiwanis Club, held yesterday noon at the Carver Hotel, members enjoyed an interesting sound moving picture on the work of the Salvation Army, entitled "Friend of the Friendless."

J. Dan Benefiel, who is in charge of the Community Chest campaign now in progress, spoke briefly on the organization and the drive.

Letters were read from International President Mark Smith and others who were in attendance at the recent party honoring Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Guests at the meeting included Major B. E. Flinn, of the Salvation Army; Ray Devore, high school student; H. B. Meacham, Mr. Benefiel and C. B. Burnette, of Warren, and Ralph Merker, of Erie.

Two boys from Warren and a third from the county were among 800 University of Michigan students who received public recognition at this year's 18th annual honors convocation.

Don E. Folkman, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Folkman, 602 Conewango avenue, received the Avery Hopwood Essay Award for 1940-41.

Charles D. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. Johnson, 2 Conewango Place, received recognition for outstanding scholarship and was honored for membership to the Michigan Law Review Board.

Frederick Glenn Engle, student from Russell, was given the McNaught Medal in Journalism and the Sigma Delta Chi recognition in the same course.

ONLY A FEW DAYS LEFT TO SEE THE 1941 ELECTRIC RANGE REVUE

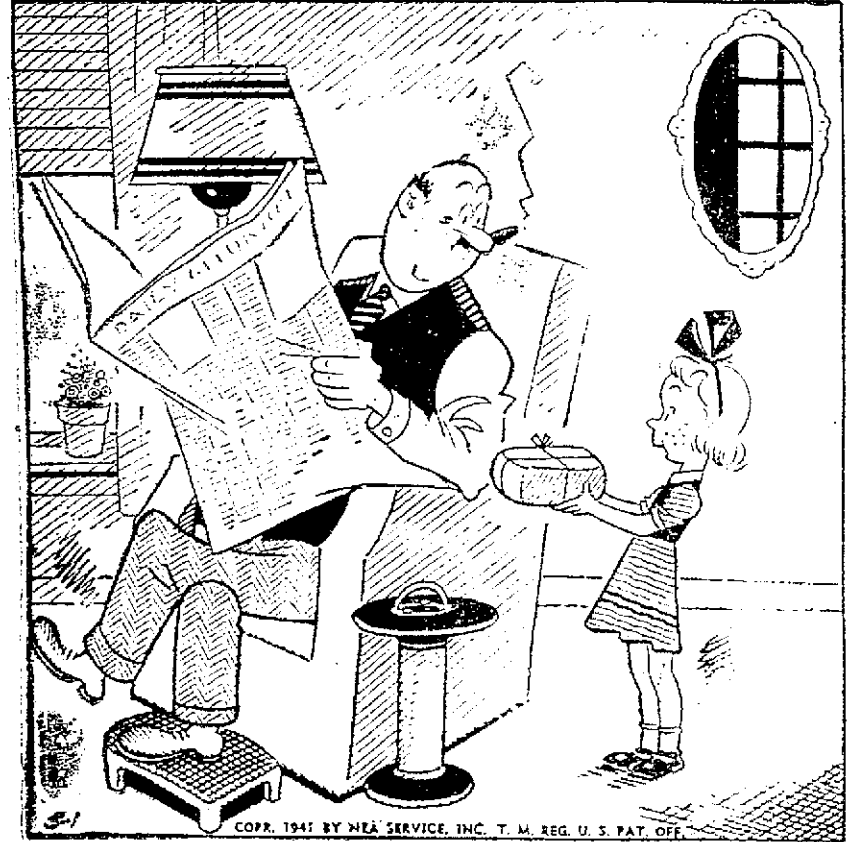

USERS SAY— I like electric cooking because it has many advantages over other methods of preparing food. It is safer, more economical and cleaner. Food cooked electrically is more healthful. Mrs. J. M. S. Union City I have used an electric range for over 2 years. Nothing like it for baking. Pies and cakes come out grand. Mrs. C. L. W. Corry Electric cooking is labor saving because it is cleaner. No blackened pots and pans to scour. Mrs. H. W. Warren

Electricity is so clean, safe and economical that no wonder 3,000,000 women have already switched to switches for cooking—as their grandmothers did for light. Less work—more free time—because electric cooking is completely automatic. Better tasting foods, too. See the new electric ranges at your dealer today.

First Unit Reports In Community Chest Campaign Indicate Success In Efforts to Reach Year's Goal

Indication of success which is expected in the Warren Community Chest Campaign for $41,800, which is now under way, is seen in the first unit report received this morning at campaign headquarters. This report was received from the West Penn Oil Company, which turned in 102 percent of its quota. This quota represented a considerable increase over that of last year. Two other units which reported soon after the West Penn Oil were Kinneer's with 100 percent of its quota, and Kinander Coal Company with 118 percent of quota. The Rev. E. Pinkney Wroth, president of the Community Chest, said today that partial reports from other units in which solicitation is under way show that much of the work in this group will be finished before the end of this week and that the prospects look very good. Solicitation in the chain stores division, under the chairmanship of H. B. Pettit, started today and it is anticipated that it will be completed before the first report meeting next Tuesday evening. The finance division, of which H. N. Elmquist is chairman, also began work this morning and all supplies are expected to be delivered to the various units today. Preliminary lists of the individual prospects are being distributed to co-chairmen and captains of the women's division. The captains' lists for prospect selection are expected to be ready for distribution at the meeting to be held by the division tomorrow morning at 1030 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. The recruiting of team personnel in the women's division is nearing completion and a full attendance of all those in the division is expected at tomorrow morning's meeting. The Chest Agency Exposition, held in the Parshall building, Liberty street, will be in charge of the Boy Scouts this evening. Tomorrow night the Girl Scouts will be in charge and on Saturday the Y. M. C. A. will present the program.

ACTION, COMEDY, LAUGHTER IN DOUBLE BILL AT THE COLUMBIA TODAY AND FRIDAY "Come Live With Me" A high spot in motion picture entertainment opens Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Columbia Theatre, where "Come Live With Me", co-starring James Stewart and Hedy Lamarr, opened for an engagement of three days. No happier combination could possibly have been found than the conservative and bashful Stewart plus the glamorous Lamarr in a story tailor-made for both of them. "Footlight Fever" On the heels of their success in "Curtain Call," Alan Mowbray and Donald MacBride, are teamed in the top roles of the hilarious new farce, "Footlight Fever," with Elisabeth Risdon as their foil. Cast as two Broadway producers who resort to fantastic methods to obtain financing for their latest play, the funsters are said to keep the suspense high, the action fast and the laughs crowding. The three are said to surpass their recent triumph in "Curtain Call." Lee Bonnell, Elyse Knox, Chas. Quigley and Georgia Backus have other principal roles in this RKO Radio picture directed by Irving Reis.

"POT OF GOLD" AT THE LIBRARY THEATRE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY There is music, merriment, fun, laughter and romance in James Roosevelt's first Hollywood production, "Pot O' Gold," which stars James Stewart and Paulette Goddard and starts a run at the Library Theatre on Friday and Saturday through United Artists release. The picture was directed by George Marshall and its story hinges on the whims of an eccentric millionaire who sells vitaminized foods, his impetuous nephew and an equally impetuous dance band which practices its tunes atop a boarding house roof. Charles Winninger portrays the uncle, Jimmy, is the comely boarding house lass and Horace Heidt and his band of radio luminaries provide the gay and light-hearted tunes. NOW SERVING Live Broiled Chicken Lobsters. MRS. EDWIN BARTSCH Caroline E. Bartsch, wife of Edwin Bartsch and former resident of Warren, passed away early today at the Lutheran Old People's Home at Zelienople, where she and Mr. Bartsch have been making their home for several years. She was born June 1, 1863, the daughter of John and Elizabeth Walter Gisselbrecht, and had spent her entire lifetime in this community until about four years ago. Mr. Bartsch served the First Lutheran Sunday school as superintendent for a number of years and his wife was active in the Ladies' Aid and Missionary groups. Surviving are a son, Edwin, Jr., of Pontiac, Mich., and a grandson, Edwin, 3rd, of Greenville. The body will be brought here Saturday for services at 3:30 o'clock in the First Lutheran church, conducted by her pastor, Rev. Edward K. Rogers. The body will lie in state at the church about an hour prior to the rites and friends may call there.

ELLA MAE AMANN The funeral of Mrs. Ella Mae Amann, 1 Tremont street, was held from the family home at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Dr. T. E. Colley, pastor of the First Methodist church. Bearers for interment in Oakland cemetery were Charles Honhart, Gust Schindler, C. A. Arnold, Roy Greenlund, John McMenamin and Charles Aron. Those who came from out of town were Mrs. Frank Russell, Pompton Lakes, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Offerle, Mrs. Kate Marsh, Mrs. Florence McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Larson and family, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Clair Phillips, Olean, N. B.P. W. Club Names Officers At Special Meeting at YWCA

In a specially called meeting at the Y. W. C. A. activities building last evening, the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club elected its officers for the coming year. Miss Callie Mead was chosen president, succeeding Mrs. Leslie G. Fobes, who is concluding a very successful term in that office. Others chosen were: Vice president, Miss Eunice Alexander, re-elected; recording secretary, Miss May Belle Saitow, re-elected; corresponding secretary, Miss Ellen Thoreson, re-elected; treasurer, Miss Hazel Keller, succeeding Miss Ruth Woodin. Mrs. Fobes appointed Miss Emma Akins as auditor. Following adjournment, there was an informal discussion concerning installation of these officers at the next meeting on May 12 and for the annual birthday banquet on June 9. To conclude, the executive committee entertained with a social time and refreshments served from an attractive table at which Mrs. Fobes and Miss Mead presided.

Weather Records Are Broken During April

Philadelphia, May 1 (AP)—Looking back on April weather charts, Pennsylvanians wonder what is in store for the summer. Philadelphia's average temperature of 59 degrees was the highest in 100 years. Readings of 82, 84 and 87 at Pittsburgh broke records dating back to 1896. The mercury averaged seven degrees above normal of 51 at Harrisburg.

2,000,000 Tons Are Required

Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission.

Land was directed to "secure the service of at least 2,000,000 tons of merchant shipping" and to plan operations so as to "make their cargo space immediately effective in accomplishing our objective of all-out aid to the democracies."

Admiral Land's task, as outlined by the president:

1. To arrange for foreign ships or ships which are to be transferred to foreign registry (presumably British) to be placed in service along routes to combat zones, including Great Britain.

2. Reallocation of American-flag ships, including those soon to be completed, on routes outside combat zones, in order that every cargo they carry would be directly or indirectly useful in national defense efforts and the "winning by the democracies of the battle now being waged in the Atlantic."

Vessels of all types must be taken from existing or proposed trade routes, the president declared, to haul vitally needed defense and war supplies across the high seas, and the United States merchant marine must be expanded with increased speed "so that ships and more ships will be available to carry the food and munitions of war to the democracies of the world."

Washington, May 1.—(P)—The senate sent to the White House today a $3,415,521,750 naval appropriations bill containing $1,515,000 to speed the construction of 729 vessels of all types under way in the two-ocean fleet program.

Adopting a conference report the senate provided for an expenditure of $434,550,000 on naval aviation, of which $350,372,000 would be available for payments on 7,129 planes now on order.

Included in the measure were funds in enlisted personnel from 222,000 to 258,000, with 26,120 officers, as well as raising the enlisted strength of the marine corps to 50,568.

Saraceno and solo entries are Donald Huck, cornet; Patty Smith, violin, and Robert Folkman, tuba. With them were Margaret Bick and Loren Wright as accompanists.

Huck won first place in the Pennsylvania finals at New Castle, the string ensemble and tuba soloist placing second.

Transportation for the trip east is being provided by the School Music Boosters' Club, with Mr. Summers, Mrs. Freeman O. Peterson, Miss Hilma Pearson and Don Folkman driving.

Moscow Observes May Day

Youths of 14 to 17 years, wearing the black silver-buttoned uniform of the state labor reserve corps formed last November, occupied a prominent place in the great parade.

Following the military show more than a million civilians swarmed across the vast square chanting patriotic songs, waving banners and raising aloft huge photographs of Soviet leaders.

Military demonstrations were staged in other cities throughout the country and there were great displays of aerial strength in 50 localities.

Blanket license terms would include payment of a flat 3 per cent royalty to ASCAP for four years and thereafter 3½ per cent until 1950.

The pre-program plan would end Dec. 31, 1949, or any shorter term at the election of the station, and among other details would include payment of a license fee on commercial programs ranging from 10 per cent down to 1½ per cent depending on the type of program.

The three major networks have not used ASCAP music since last December when a five-year contract that netted ASCAP $4,000,000 annually for use of its members' songs expired.

For its new contract ASCAP sought to abandon its practice of collecting royalties only from individual stations, reduce fees to some 500 of these stations for music played on local programs and charge the chains 7½ per cent of their gross income for unrestricted use of ASCAP music on network broadcasts.

The broadcasters refused this demand, maintaining that under these terms ASCAP would double its $4,000,000 annual income. The networks now are using music controlled by Broadcast Music, Inc., organization set up by the National Association of Broadcasters.

Electric Cooking IS COMPLETELY AUTOMATIC

USERS SAY—

I like electric cooking because it has many advantages over other methods of preparing food. It is safer, more economical and cleaner. Food cooked electrically is more healthful.

Mrs. J. M. S.
Union City

I have used an electric range for over 2 years. Nothing like it for baking. Pies and cakes come out grand.

Mrs. C. L. W.
Corry

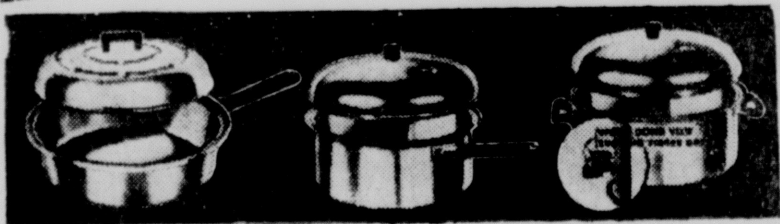

Electric cooking is labor saving because it is cleaner. No blackened pots and pans to scour.

Mrs. H. W.
Warren

Electricity is so clean, safe and economical that no wonder 3,000,000 women have already switched to switches for cooking—as their grandmothers did for light. Less work—more free time—because electric cooking is completely automatic. Better tasting foods, too. See the new electric ranges at your dealer today.

Get this Gift!

Only a few days left to get this beautiful $8.85 matched set of genuine "WEAR-EVER" extra-thick aluminum cooking utensils included, at no extra cost, with the electric range you are planning to buy. Ask your electrical dealer for details.

First Unit Reports In Community Chest Campaign Indicate Success In Efforts to Reach Year's Goal

Indication of success which is expected in the Warren Community Chest Campaign for $41,800, which is now under way, is seen in the first unit report received this morning at campaign headquarters.

This report was received from the West Penn Oil Company, which turned in 102 percent of its quota. This quota represented a considerable increase over that of last year.

Two other units which reported soon after the West Penn Oil were Kinneer's with 100 percent of its quota, and Kinander Coal Company with 118 percent of quota.

The Rev. E. Pinkney Wroth, president of the Community Chest, said today that partial reports from other units in which solicitation is under way show that much of the work in this group will be finished before the end of this week and that the prospects look very good.

Solicitation in the chain stores division, under the chairmanship of H. B. Pettit, started today and it is anticipated that it will be completed before the first report meeting next Tuesday evening.

The finance division, of which H. N. Elmquist is chairman, also began work this morning and all supplies are expected to be delivered to the various units today.

Preliminary lists of the individual prospects are being distributed to co-chairmen and captains of the women's division. The captains' lists for prospect selection are expected to be ready for distribution at the meeting to be held by the division tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A.

The recruiting of team personnel in the women's division is nearing completion and a full attendance of all those in the division is expected at tomorrow morning's meeting.

The Chest Agency Exposition, being held in the Pechal building, thirty street, will be in charge of the Boy Scouts this evening. Tomorrow night the Girl Scouts will be in charge and on Saturday the Y. M. C. A. will present the program.

ACTION, COMEDY, LAUGHTER IN DOUBLE BILL AT THE COLUMBIA TODAY AND FRIDAY

"Come Live With Me"

A high spot in motion picture entertainment opens Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Columbia Theatre, where "Come Live With Me", co-starring James Stewart and Hedy Lamarr, opened for an engagement of three days. No happier combination could possibly have been found than the conservative and bashful Stewart plus the glamorous Lamarr in a story tailor-made for both of them.

On the heels of their success in "Curtain Call," Alan Mowbray and Donald MacBride, are teamed in the top roles of the hilarious new farce, "Footlight Fever," with Elisabeth Risdon as their foil. Cast as two Broadway producers who resort to fantastic methods to obtain financing for their latest play, the funsters are said to keep the suspense high, the action fast and the laughs crowding. The three are said to surpass their recent triumph in "Curtain Call."

Lee Bonnell, Elyse Knox, Chas. Quigley and Georgia Backus have other principal roles in this RKO Radio picture directed by Irving Reis.

"POT OF GOLD" AT THE LIBRARY THEATRE FRI- DAY AND SATURDAY

There is music, merriment, fun, laughter and romance in James Roosevelt's first Hollywood production, "Pot of Gold," which stars James Stewart and Paulette Goddard and starts a run at the Library Theatre on Friday and Saturday through United Artists release. The picture was directed by George Marshall and its story hinges on the whims of an eccentric millionaire who sells vitaminized foods, his impecunious nephew and an equally impecunious dance band which practices its tunes atop a boarding house roof.

Charles Winninger portrays the uncle, Jimmy is the nephew, Paulette Goddard is the comely boarding house lass and Horace Heidt and his band of radio luminaries provide the gay and light-hearted tunes.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reid, of Oil City and Corydon, have been visiting in Philadelphia, Washington, D. C. and Shepherdstown, W. Va. Charles Clawson and Herbert Quigley were last Sunday visitors in Buffalo, N. Y.

Ralph Akers and family were visitors Friday evening of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Akers.

The Women's Society of Christian Service will meet this week Thursday at the M. E. church. A luncheon will be partaken of with Mrs. Blanche Kennedy in charge of the coffee service. Reported it is that the weekly program in session at the weekly meetings of the past will be in future presented only once a month.

A small group attended the Red Cross sewing session held last Friday afternoon in the school building.

Beverly Prue was guest of honor at a family birthday dinner on Sunday at her home.

Prof. C. C. Burch and Miss Margaret Akers, members of the school faculty, spent the recent weekend at their homes in Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pascarella are recent visitors of her parents in Bradford.

Miss Wilma Stryker has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Stryker.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson and family were weekend visitors at their cottage here.

The number of blacksmith shops decreased 3,500 from 20,325 to 16,797—during the four-year period, 1935 to 1939, according to the Census. Receipts, however, were off only 3.9 percent, from $23,454,000 to $22,567,000.

New York ranks as the first manufacturing state with 34,514 factory establishments annually producing goods valued at more than seven billion dollars, Census statistics show.

OBITUARY

E. M. HACKETT

Ernest M. Hackett died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lola Vollentine in Kennedy, N. Y., at 8:15 p. m. yesterday, aged 86 years. Besides his daughter, he leaves a son, Frank Hackett, of Corydon; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild. He had lived in and around Randolph, N. Y., for 62 years and had resided with his daughter for the last eleven years. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. from the Matison Funeral Home in Kennedy.

MRS. WALTER WARD

Funeral services of Mrs. Walter Ward, Glade township, were held at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Peterson Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. C. W. Winch, of Johnstown, former pastor of the First Evangelical church here. He was assisted by the present pastor, Rev. J. C. Wygant.

Interment was made in Oakland cemetery, with the following acting as bearers: David Brasington, Will Olney, F. E. Redding, George Seavy, David VanOrsdale and Addison White.

Here from away to attend the rites were Mr. and Mrs. F. Earl Ward, Minneapolis, Minn.; Dr. Ralph Ward and Russell Ward, Erie; Mr. and Mrs. Marley R. Bates, New Castle; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. B. P. W. Club Names Officers At Special Meeting at YWCA

In a specially called meeting at the Y. W. C. A. activities building last evening, the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club elected its officers for the coming year.

Miss Callie Mead was chosen president, succeeding Mrs. Leslie G. Fobes, who is concluding a very successful term in that office. Others chosen were: Vice president, Miss Eunice Alexander, re-elected; recording secretary, Miss MayBelle Bairstow, re-elected; corresponding secretary, Miss Ellen Thoreson, re-elected; treasurer, Miss Hazel Keller, succeeding Miss Ruth Woodin.

Mrs. Fobes appointed Miss Emma Atkins as auditor.

Following adjournment, there was an informal discussion concerning installation of these officers at the next meeting on May 12 and for the annual birthday banquet on June 9.

To conclude, the executive committee entertained with a social time and refreshments served from an attractive table at which Mrs. Fobes and Miss Mead presided.

Weather Records Are Broken During April

Philadelphia, May 1.—(P)—Looking back on April weather charts, Pennsylvanians wonder what is in store for the summer.

Philadelphia's average temperature of 59 degrees was the highest in 100 years. Readings of 82, 84 and 87 at Pittsburgh broke records dating back to 1896. The mercury averaged seven degrees above normal of 51 at Harrisburg.
